Initial Survey For Sewerage System May Be Made For $300 Council Told

Lengthy Discussion Ensues On Installation of Culverts and Repairs To Streets

An initial survey for a sewerage system in Stirling, permitting a vote on the question by the ratepayers, may be done at a cost of three hundred dollars. This information was conveyed to members of the Village Council at their regular monthly meeting on Monday night by a representative of Graham, Reid and Associates. In the event the taxpayers are favourable to the project and a further survey is warranted this sum will be deducted from the cost of the latter.

Reeve R. K. West and Councillors Ray and Philp were the only members of the civic body present and any definite action on the matter was deferred until all members of Council are present at a special meeting on the 20th next.

Clerk F. R. Mallory was instructed to order two new flags, one for the park on Victoria and Edward Streets and the other for the Community Hall.

A lengthy discussion ensued on repairs to the Village Streets, installation of culverts, etc. It was decided to forego any permanent surface work until such time as the sewerage question is settled.

The following accounts were tabled for payment:

E. D. Ketcheson, $34.80; Public Utilities, $287.21; J. C. McGee, $10.05; R. J. Lovell Co., $5.31; Stirling Welding Shop, $4.90; G. S. Finkle, $61.90; H. C. Martin, $5.00; Geo. Ferguson, $5.00; Harry Jones, $16.25; Foster Wannamaker, 75c; Earl Fox, $1.00; E. Friars, $2.25; Fred McCutcheon, $8.25; F. R. Mallory, $5.00; G. B. Faulkner, $5.00; Harold Juby, $1.00; County of Hastings, $335.10; Bell Telephone, $7.05; Hatton Hardware, $2.26; Thea Whillier & Son Ltd., $5.17; Stirling Lumber Co., $20.85; Brunner, Mond Canada Sales, $262.66; Haggarty Transport, $90.94.

Reception For Bride and Groom

A reception in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bush who were recently married was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bush, Stirling, on Saturday night, when about seventy relatives and friends were in attendance.

After a lovely dinner served by several ladies, Mr. Jack Bush acted as chairman for a short programme consisting of readings by Mrs. J. Donohoe, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Utman, Mrs. Roy Bush and Mrs. Jack Bush. Mrs. George Heasman contributed a solo. A few impromptu speeches were given by some of the men present, after which the bride and groom opened several gifts and both expressed their appreciation for the lovely gifts and all the good wishes that had been bestowed upon them.

Later in the evening the charivari party arrived and entertained the gathering with their different musical instruments. They were invited into the home and treated to sandwiches, cake, ice cream and cold drinks.

A most unusual experience was had recently by Mrs. Geo. E. Thompson, of Springbrook, at their summer cottage on Papineau Lake. Hearing a disturbance outside the cottage during the night she went to the window to investigate and to her surprise saw a large bear peering through the bedroom window. Fortunately Bruin was not in a belligerent mood and wandered off into the neighbouring bush.

He spoke on the Missionary text, Matthew 28, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel, baptizing in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost." Mr. Ellis brought out the practical value of the Doctrine of the Holy Trinity, and emphasized that to be missionary minded, the true nature of God must be understood.

Framed Picture Presented

The Rector Rev. H. C. Secker presented the framed picture of the "Head of Christ" by Salzman, which was won as second prize in the Dominion Competition by the senior class of the Church School. Those who worked on this project were given a miniature of the same picture. They were Barbara Woodbeck, Lois Vardy, Marjorie McArton and Victoria Armstrong.

Mrs. Ken. Morrow Hostess To River Valley Women's Institute

The June meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Morrow. There were twenty-six members and one visitor in attendance.

Mrs. Roy Bush opened with the Ode, Lord's Prayer and community singing. Mrs. Thos. Hanna read the minutes and letters of thanks. The roll call was an exchange of potted plants, flower slips and bulbs. The President spoke of the Guelph Holiday and the Folk School. Ten dollars was voted to the Appeal for the Blind. The July meeting will be Children's Day at the School House. Plans were made for the District Annual next week and delegates appointed.

Mrs. Don Donohoe Programme Convener

Mrs. Don Donohoe convened the programme and read a paper prepared by Mrs. Chester Mills on the motto "God gave us memories so that we would have roses in December." Mrs. Phil Conley contributed a piano solo, "Memories." The President spoke briefly of the importance of devoting some programme space to the National and International work of the W.I.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen Speaker

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave the address on the theme "The Wider Field of Institute Work." She spoke of June as dairy month in Canada and all are asked to serve whole milk, evaporated milk or milk powder foods every day.

She referred to the H. M. Lory Award to the F.W.I.C. and the citation reads in part: "The Women's Institutes have a history of outstanding work for more than fifty years. The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada have made a unique contribution in improving communities as well as their service abroad."

Last year the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario sent 4,000 dollars to Korea to purchase sewing machines.

Presentation To Young Couple

Some fifty neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. McIntosh, Mill St., last night to honour Mr. and Mrs. Jim McIntosh, who were recently married.

Clarke Rodgers acted as master of ceremonies for a fine programme, which opened with a round of community singing, led by Frank Harding. Readings were given by Mrs. Louis Rodgers, and Mrs. Clarke Rodgers; piano solos by Allan and Janet Fletcher, and vocal solos by Heather Rodgers and Mrs. Roy Eggleton.

An appropriate address was read by Marilyn Wright and Mrs. Frank Harding and Chas. Vance made the presentation of a hostess chair and three table ornaments to the young couple. The bride and groom voiced their sincere thanks for the lovely gifts, after which dainty refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

On Tuesday night about 65 from the River Valley community tendered the young couple a noisy charivari, after which a social hour was much enjoyed.

Accepts Position

Miss Barbara Fargy, who has been accepted on the staff of the Toronto Public School Teachers, left on Saturday to begin preliminary training. In September Barbara will commence her duties at Blythwood Public School in North Toronto.

es for Korean War widows and for erecting a small building where these machines could be housed. Just recently the Korean women sent to Ontario appreciation garments for a young lad and a little girl with all the little accessories that go with each outfit. They also sent a silken scroll of thanks with either their name or thumb print.

The F.W.I.C. was organized in 1919 and last year there were 95,000 Institute members across Canada. The Associated Country Women of the World aims to promote goodwill, friendship and understanding and is the only international organization representing rural women. The Triennial Conference of A.C.W.W. convenes in Ceylon in December 1956 and books, leaflets and films are available in order for Institute members to study Ceylon and visualize the country.

This year Institutes in England have a special clean up campaign with a little song to "Pack up your litter in your own hand bag and take it home." This is also very applicable to Ontario as many people have a bad habit of dumping empty cartons, kleenex, papers, etc., just anywhere.

The convener voiced thanks to Mrs. MacMullen and closed her programme with "The Queen."

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Edgar Morrow, of Stirling, and the lunch committee, served refreshments. Mrs. Ed. Heasman voiced thanks for hospitality, programme and lunch.

Recovers Lost Line With 4-Lb. Trout

The best fish story of the year comes from Geo. E. Thompson, of Springbrook, one of the district's most ardent fishermen, and a former Warden of Hastings County. While fishing in Papineau Lake in the northern part of the County on Wednesday of last week Mr. Thompson had the misfortune to lose 300 feet of line and hook. On Friday while again trying his luck and much to his surprise he hooked the missing line along with a four-pound trout. Lucky George!

Mrs. A. Packman Gives Most Interesting Address On the Subject "England"

The June meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ross Rosebush with 9 members, 3 new members and 12 visitors present.

Guest Speaker
The guest speaker, Mrs. A. Packman, was introduced by Mrs. W. C. West and took as her subject her home country, "England." She stated she had been in Canada two years and liked our Country very much. Canadians think England is very damp and foggy but it is not. There are still a few thatched cottages to be seen, stated the speaker, who gave a vivid word picture of the old land. Books and pamphlets were passed around with pictures at various colleges and public buildings. A map was shown of the Thames River and the subways which in places pass under the river. This address was very much appreciated.

A reading was given by Mrs. E. Foster, "Giving Sunshine." The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the executive. Mrs. McMurray moved a vote of thanks to the guest speaker, soloists, hostess and all who helped with the programme and lunch.

Rural Church Presents Challenge To Young Men

(By Clifford Walte)
Student Minister, Lowville-
Zimmerman Charge

"If you go to a city pulpit, take your best suit, but if you go to a country church, take your best sermon." This advice to clergymen is well grounded.

The city preacher may find it rough going when he faces the rugged sincerity and deeply probing minds of a rural congregation. Statistics give the lie to the notion that country folk are slower-witted than city dwellers.

Study Made

In a study made of 3,025 children in both urban and rural areas the difference in the I.Q.'s was noted. Their I.Q.'s depended primarily upon the amount of education their parents had, not the locale in which they lived, it was discovered. Children of well-educated farm parents averaged 107.6, while those of highly educated city parents average 106.2. The score for farm children of less educated parents was 98.4, while the average rating for city youngsters was 97.0.

These figures, together with a new appreciation which is developing of the skill, knowledge and intelligence that is required to make a successful agricultural producer, are pertinent to an understanding of the place of the rural church.

Too long have rural churches been manned by older or retired men who offer but the rag-ends of their ministry.

Need New Vision

The rural church needs a fresh vision of its possibilities under God—a realization of its vital and crucial role in the days ahead in the cleansing and uplifting of the rural community in which lies so much of the moral integrity of our nation.

Conditions have changed radically in agriculture and the rural church needs to keep pace in its methods of evangelization and of making effective a Christian witness in every phase of agricultural activity.

With the advent of power machinery, electronic devices and high overhead today's farmer needs not only a healthy dose of common sense, but also a fair acquaintance with economics, marketing, chemistry, entomology, plant and animal pathology and cost accounting. But above all these he needs the sure knowledge of the dignity of his calling as a partner with God in the best use of his land.

Presents Challenge

The rural church today and in the days ahead presents a challenge to young men that they prepare themselves with care for its ministry and that they give of their best in the service of Christ among the "salt of the earth"—the God-fearing farmers.

Just as our best young men and women are challenged to make the agricultural industry their chosen field of endeavour and need to equip themselves for that important understanding, so too we need devoted laymen working at character building within the local church—in the church school, young people's groups, married couples' clubs, men's associations and various women's groups.

Two Rural Deans Are Appointed

Appointment of two new Rural Deans in the Diocese of Ontario has been officially announced by the Bishop, the Rt. Rev. K. C. Evans. The Rev. R. H. Braman, rector of St. Luke's Church, Kingston, is now Rural Dean of Frontenac, succeeding the Rev. C. Winter, of Cataraqui. Rural Dean of Lennox and Addington is the Rev. Kenneth F. Blachford, rector of Deseronto, succeeding the Rev. F. O. Ware, of Tamworth.

Wellman's W.M.S. June Meeting

The June meeting of Wellman's W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. D. Clancy on Friday afternoon. The President, Mrs. J. Carlisle opened the meeting and the hymn "Thou Whose Almighty Word," was sung.

The theme of the worship service was "To Live and To Give." This was conducted by Mrs. D. Clancy and Mrs. G. Watson and Mrs. K. Tompkins, followed by prayer.

The minutes were read by the Secretary, Mrs. G. Watson. The President reported, sending a large bale—100 pounds.

Readings were given by Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, Mrs. J. Pollock and Mrs. B. Morton. "Missionary Work in India" was read by Mrs. J. Carlisle. Hymn 416 and the benediction brought the meeting to a close.

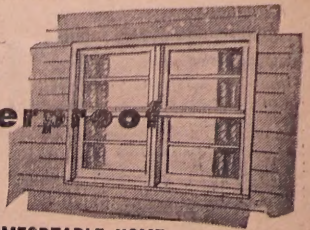

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants. Mrs. B. Morton thanked the hostess for her hospitality.

V.C. Winners Says RCAF Inadequate

Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, said recently that the number of RCAF CF-100 squadrons is "totally inadequate to provide an effective interceptor force" against an air attack on Canada.

"Auxiliary squadrons, which should be the backbone of home defence, are still equipped with obsolete Second World War aircraft," charged the Progressive Conservative military critic, member of the Commons for Esquimalt-Saanich. He was speaking on the CBC trans-Canada network in the free-time political broadcast series, "The Nation's Business."

"STEERING WHEEL FARMING" Gives Agriculture a Brighter Look

Great changes have taken place in farming in recent years—changes that have brought new concepts of crop production and animal husbandry; soil and moisture conservation; management and marketing.

Symbol of one of the major changes in farming operations is the steering wheel. It stands for power—power that has been made available through tractors and machines to do practically every job on the farm; power that has given agriculture its greatest lift in centuries—power that has brought opportunities for a greater participation in higher standards of living.

In the promotion of "steering wheel farming" Massey-Harris and Ferguson have made available tractors and implements with outstanding features to apply power in the modern way. Sound, advanced engineering, high standards in materials and manufacture, thorough testing, and prompt efficient service combine to make Massey-Harris and Ferguson machines outstanding in dependability, long life and economy.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

A Texan Hillbilly was once heard to observe: "If you can't convince the other fellow, you ain't got nuthin'." This was at a political meeting. He was evidently not impressed.

Reflections On

The Festival

The above came to mind as we sat listening to the many fine contributions at our Festival. We were impressed, I trust in the right way. There was richness and lilt; soul and rhythm in many a song. Quite obviously, those who scored success won most points in that they directed the listeners to the message being sung and did not attract attention to themselves. We were fortunate in not having to spend time in the presence of people trying to do just that.

During the proceedings on Tuesday evening, and following a suggestion by the Adjudicator, Dr. Osborne, I asked that we begin to think in terms of scholarships. I sincerely hope to hear from those who would like to help in this way.

Presently, meaning "later on," I hope to campaign for the furtherance of this very desirable end.

Vote

I asked a friend last week: "Are you going to vote?"

"Not me," he said, "I got something better to do."

History teaches us that it cost exactly 20,000,000 deaths to get the vote. And now there are those who don't want it. Funny, isn't it!

Social Stirling

After spending a whole year in a community it should be possible to answer a question which is so often directed to a new comer — "How do you like . . . ?"

Of course, there are a number of possible answers to this as to any other question, but you cannot answer it until you have become acquainted with the life and qualities of a place. One could then answer — "I do" or "I don't." However, very much depends upon the meaning of the question in the mind of the questioner — what exactly does the questioner mean when he asks, "How do you like Stirling?" Does he mean, "How do you like us?" My answer would be "I do like us."

A man from a distance asked the inevitable of me some days ago, I answered: "Stirling is the very nicest place in the whole of Canada. Few of us every beat up our wives, only a very few (I assured him). Beyond that, we are a God-fearing, sober, hard-working people. Everybody minds his own business and I have personally never heard a vicious word spoken about anyone. Having paid a few more rather graceful tributes to Stirling and which I will not say for modesty's sake repeat, and having said a word on behalf of the lake of the village — my friend turned to me with a look of incredulity in his eyes and asked, "Say, have you ever been in Whitby?"

Gardens

I have always taken a great interest in my garden, not that I like work any more than most of my friends, but I would rather like in a garden than in the jungle. Certainly I could have chosen a more kindly one than that one I now have. Since working it I have thought of starting a new industry for the village. There is a certain weed which throws up a long grass like shoot, but if you dig it up you will find that it has also some fine succulent roots, they look good enough to eat and I have an idea that if they could be marketed for this purpose then I am sure they would be the perfect cure for housemaids' knees, whooping cough, meningitis, sleeping sickness and a few more hyphenated things. The only drawback is we have no drinkers in town, and nobody kneels anymore, and we don't call it sleeping sickness down here; and mother can always deal with whooping cough — but you will agree that, had we the need, I might have something.

I had made up my mind not to garden this year, or at least I had nearly made up my mind — then something happened, just as it did last year. One day I noticed that my garden had been ploughed. A few days later it had been cultivated. Earlier George Carlisle had sprinkled a lot of fertilizer about the place. I inquired into this and was told that Alan McDonnell had done it. Still later friend Fox, stole, borrowed or lifted 250 raspberry canes from a friend's lot and dumped them onto mine. Charles Davidson mistaking the size of the lot sent up the biggest consignment of seeds I have ever seen for a nickle, so today we have Brooks and Lansing gladioli, Anglican corn, Presbyterian rhubarb and Catholic beans, besides Martin's plants for the front garden.

As I was saying to my inquiring friend — Stirling is the nicest place in the whole of Canada.

Cat Talk

For eight whole years a man tried to get his cat to talk. One day when Tabby was enjoying her milk, she suddenly lifted her fur and shouted to the old man, "Look Out!"

The man paid not the slightest attention to her.

Just then the roof fell in. The cat crawling out from under, shook herself with great dignity and walking away said, "Eight whole years that old sinner has been teaching me to talk, and then the sap doesn't listen when I do."

Shucks — Whoever heard of a cat being able to read the almanac?

Which may remind the Editor, I imagine, of the time when a preacher prayed for rain — and of the whole crowd, only one little girl brought her umbrella to Church.

Famous Last Words

Girl, reclining on boy's neck as they drove along No. 1111 highway: "Heavenly Heavens, Heaven."

A man was wont to pray very long prayers, always at some point he got in the words "Lord, not as I will, but as Thou wilt," and some shivered for fear lest he should be taken literally.

I also knew a man who prayed that the hindrance be taken away from the little church of which he was a member. The following month he and his wife left for Australia.

Conference

The Bay of Quinte Conference is in session from Monday, June 6th to Friday, June 10th at Port Hope, I.O.D.E.

The Stirling Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be present at St. Paul's at the morning service at 11 o'clock. We extend a very cordial welcome to the Daughters of the Empire and all friends.

Entered Into Rest

WILLIAM VENN

William Collins Venn, 85, of Bradenton, Fla., a former resident of the Ivanhoe community, died recently in Florida following an extended illness.

Mr. Venn was born in Ivanhoe, February 11th, 1890. Mr. and Mrs. Venn were married in Jamestown, March 2nd, 1907. For several years the couple operated a bakery in Sinclairville and prior to retiring in 1945 operated a bakery in Frewsburg for some 35 years. They have resided in Florida since their retirement.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, Katherine A. Bahr Venn, is a sister, Mrs. Lydia Gustafson Brocton and Mrs. Jennie Venn Whitman, of Rochester, another sister, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p.m. from the Blair Funeral Home with Rev. E. W. Chitester, pastor of the Frewsburg Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was made in Gerry cemetery.

CONSERVATION
NEWS!Forest Tent Caterpillar
On The Decline

The Forest Tent Caterpillar (Malacosoma disstria) is reported on the decline by the Department of Agriculture of Canada, Science Service. Forest Biology Rangers indicate that residents of the Tweed District may expect Forest Tent Caterpillars again this year but in smaller numbers.

The larvae are hatched from early May until the first of June, just as the first leaves appear, and begin to feed immediately on adjacent leaves. As the caterpillars approach full growth the tree becomes denuded and migration from tree to tree begins. Upon reaching maturity the caterpillars are about one and one half inches long, hairy, brownish with a slate-blue stripe on each side and a row of key-hole shaped white spots on the back.

When the caterpillars are full grown they spin yellowish-white cocoons in crevices, forked branches and fences. About ten days after spinning the cocoon the adult emerges and lays eggs on nearby twigs. The Forest Tent Caterpillar remains over winter in the egg stage to be hatched in the spring.

Trembling Aspen, Large-toothed Aspen, Red Oak and Elm suffered the heaviest damage in the Tweed District in 1954.

The reason for the decline in the caterpillar population has been attributed to an increase in attacking parasites and disease as well as unfavourable weather conditions.

Fish and Wildlife

Summer field work in Fisheries is well under way in the Tweed District. Fine weather and an early season has been in our favour.

At Bancroft, pickerel have been tagged in Paudash Lake to determine whether or not they migrate downstream over the dam at the outlet from the lake. A constant check on anglers above and below the dam is being carried out to get information on the recovery of tagged pickerel.

A biological survey is at present being carried out on Stoco Lake at Tweed. Other surveys throughout the District will follow at intervals throughout the summer.

Toronto anglers visiting a Northern Lake over the week-end and while preparing a 4 pound pickerel for the shore dinner, discovered in the stomach of the fish, a cork from a thermos bottle. It is alleged that fish enjoy occupying an area, which may contain the effluent deposit from dairies. Though many kinds of liquid refreshment get into this kind of containers, it's still a corking good fish story. Officer Ferguson, of Denbigh, is prepared to vouch for its authenticity.

Mr. Pat Plumble, of Steenburg, carried home a wounded goose a few weeks ago and has nursed it to complete recovery. Officer Shannon believes the injury was inflicted by a .22 cal. rifle.

RADAR

A little-known operation that radar speed control equipment performs in addition to its enforcement function, is the automatic accumulation of vital information on traffic volumes and speeds which traffic engineers need to predict road requirements.

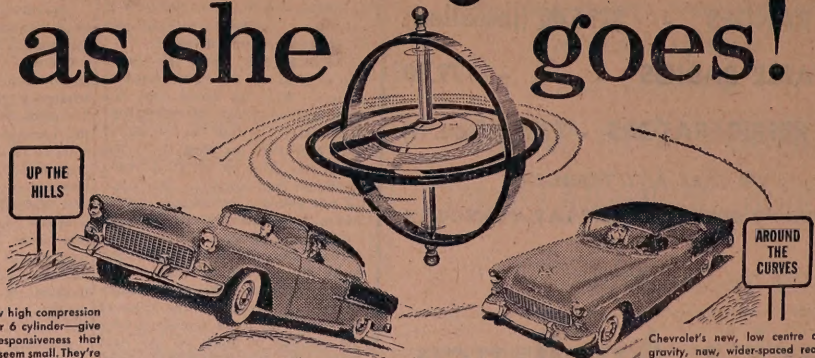

Under other circumstances this information would have to be gathered by tedious, personal observation.

Tweed Garbage
Collector Resigns

Garbage collector at Tweed, Joe Cournoya, who has done the job for years, resigned when Council refused a salary increase from $37.50 to $45 a week. The Tweed News hints that there is more behind the resignation than wages. It also suggests that citizens may become critical of the council's actions on other matters including "deplorable sidewalk conditions," apathy toward water meters and the erection of street signs. In fact the paper suggests that there has been too much talk and not enough action around the council table this year.

GOVERNMENT GROWTH

One of the measures of the growth of government is the number of civil servants. Figures recently released show a continued upward spiral in this regard in our country. In October 1953 there were 172,119 persons in civil service. In October of 1954 the figure had risen to 181,698. The monthly payroll during these two months rose from $39,709,115 to $44,103,608. These figures do not include overtime payments.

The prayer was given by Mr. Orno Sharp, Presbytery representative. The offering was gathered by Messrs. Herbert Smith, Mac Sharp, Harry McAdam and Burton Sharpe.

The Pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, spoke briefly and introduced Rev. Arthur Packman, D.P.s. of St. Paul's-Carmel. He spoke on "The Value of Religion in the home in order to keep the children of today on the right path." He spoke of the moral gravitation as outlined in a recent Sunday School lesson, when the third generation forgot the teachings of religion and tore down the temple.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

Vision

I am going to tell you about a fellow that I went to school with. He lives in a small town, physically; but in a Big City, spiritually. He is rich. Not because he ever cheated; he is the soul of honesty. I had all the opportunities he had, but he had more vision.

Last month I met him on the Main Street of our home town. "Listen here," I said, "let's go have a coffee together. I want to find out how you made yourself such a pot of money in a little place like this."

Settled in the coffee shop, he said, "What makes you call this place little? I think it's pretty big."

"Big? My gosh, it is less than a thousand," I protested.

He took a map and a pencil from his pocket. He drew a circle with a diameter of 60 miles. At least seven other small towns fell within the area of the circle. "I can be in most of those places in half an hour — about an hour and a half to the furthest. How long does it take you to get to work in the city?"

I confessed I was lucky to make it in half an hour through traffic.

"You see," he said, a twinkle in his eye. "This is my city. I advertise to this whole area. I have outlets here and here . . ." He began putting X's within his circle with all the zest of a chain-store merchant choosing city street corners.

If you have vision, you can look at a small town in a big way.

Services To Blind By C.N.I.B. Outlined By Field Workers

It is estimated that the 6,292 blind in Ontario, one-half would have had sight if they had known and taken advantage of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind Services. Miss M. Dupuis told her audience in her address on "Prevention of Blindness" at the Quinte Secondary School on Wednesday evening of last week. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Hastings County Advisory Board with Chairman George Wishart in charge.

Guests sat down to a fine meal served by Mrs. Sherwood and her staff in the spacious auditorium.

Mr. J. L. Lambert read the minutes and correspondence, and reports of the local campaigns, welfare activities and Christmas cheer were given by Mrs. H. J. Waller, Foxboro; Mrs. Geo. Hill, Madoc; Mrs. F. R. Wells, Mar-mora; Mr. A. J. Bourne and Miss Hayes, Trenton; Mrs. George Wishart and Mrs. M. C. Ward, Belleville; Mrs.

LoSage, Trenton. Written reports were read from Miss M. Peck, Belleville; Rev. K. F. Blachford, Deseronto, and H. J. Madill, Frankford.

Miss M. Casey who has come from the Kitchener-Waterloo district to be the new home teacher reported that she had given instruction in typing, Braille, knitting and other crafts.

President Reports

Clarence Morris, president of the White Cane Club gave an account of the activities of the group.

Chairman of the campaign H. J. Fuke, reported that a total of $8,959.69 was contributed. Miss Elinor Roblin, treasurer, read the financial statement which showed a total of $9,884.69 with expenses of $10,694.21, a deficit of $809.52.

Field Secretary P. I. Timmins, of Kingston, stated that there were 133 registered blind in the county, with 14 new cases. The service included visits to discuss problems, instruction in adjustments, loans of books in embossed type and on talking book records from the 30,000 titles in the library, loans of radios and repairs, placement of employable persons in shops, canteens and other work found by placement officers, free bus passes on Rawson buses, supplementary or emergency assistance in cash, fuel and clothing, Christmas remembrances, eye examinations, glasses, treatment and artificial eyes.

Mr. A. D. Archibald brought in the new slate of officers who were duly elected: past president, George Wishart; president, T. J. Fluery; 1st vice-president, Mrs. George Wishart; 2nd vice-president, Mark Tripp; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. J. LeSage; secretary, J. L. Lambert; treasurer, Miss Elinor Roblin; campaign treasurer, H. J. Fuke, A. J. Bourne; Welfare convenor, Miss Myrtle Peck; Public Relations, Mrs. M. C. Ward.

Miss M. F. Dupuis, director of eye service with the CNIB in Ontario was introduced by Mr. P. I. Timmins, as a graduate nurse, who had studied public health administration and had become interested in the prevention of blindness.

"Our work has a dual purpose," said Miss Dupuis, "the prevention of blindness and the rehabilitation of the blind. Since most of what we learn is through sight it is our most important sense. The primary thing to consider is maintaining a positive state of health, mental and physical."

Should See Doctor

"A foreign body in the eye should be removed by an eye doctor. Some eye conditions run in families and children should be watched as they grow up for these tendencies. At the age of forty everyone should have an eye examination as two-thirds of blindness are in people over that age. Accidents account for many injuries in children, and hazards should be eliminated in the home and industry. At play children should have safe toys and not be allowed BB guns, knives or broken toys.

"At one time eye infections in newborn infants was common, but today it is practically non-existent. Babies born prematurely sometimes have a disease of the eye where the retina is not fully matured, and does not develop properly causing blindness."

The speaker explained the cause of crossed eyes, when the vision is impaired and advised early correction by an oculist, because after the age of five little can be done. Far-sightedness results when the eyes do not develop at a normal rate. A myopic child has vision which develops too quickly. Some children would rather read than play outdoors. With astigmatism the eye ball is not even. Proper glasses will help correct this condition. Glasses do not cure any condition but they give comfort and bring images into better focus. In the growing years lenses need changing frequently.

"Glaucoma is a condition where there is excessive amounts of fluid inside the eye and the canal is blocked. Pressure on the blood vessels causes destruction and the retina dies, gradually closing in the field of vision. Treatment is effective if taken early and directions are carefully followed. "Cataracts are the greatest cause of blindness, but operations for this disease are 95 per cent successful. If a mother has German measles during pregnancy a baby is often born with cataracts.

"The CNIB finds cases, provides eye examinations, and sends a report to head office where two oculists review the report. If parents cannot afford to provide glasses the Institute will do so. Although the Institute does not pay hospital or doctor bills, it sometimes pays for medication. Through their education programme they visit schools and health nurses teach them how to prevent blindness through films and literature."

In thanking the speaker, Mr. Wishart stated that the listeners had a new awareness of what can be done to help in the prevention of blindness.

Plant Lays Off 890

Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd. Friday laid off 890 men at its Toronto plant and more layoffs are expected next week, a union official at the plant said.

The layoffs, which cut the Toronto plant work force by about 20 percent, was described by James S. Duncan, chairman of the board as an "unfortunate seasonal situation," caused partly by the bad crop situation in Western Canada.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WEED OF THE WEEK

GOAT'S BEARD A PASTURE PEST

Goat's Beard (Tragopogon species) is a weed resembling in many ways the animal from which it gets its name. While domesticated goats provide milk and meat, wild goats provide little but exercise for hunters. So it is with Goat's Beard. In early times when it was cultivated as salsify or oyster plant it provided food for our ancestors. Now that it is no longer domesticated, Goat's Beard furnishes plenty of exercise for farmers whose land becomes infested with the weed. Goat's Beard is a coarse, tall plant reaching a height of about three feet. It has a long tap root which supports an upright stem with long, narrow, pointed leaves and the flowers are large and either yellow or purple in colour. In bud, or closed at night, the shape of the seed head resembles a goat's beard. The seeds are long and narrow, tufted for buoyancy and the ripe seed head looks like the seed on an overgrown dandelion. The whole plant is filled with a thick milky juice.

According to the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Goat's Beard is not a great problem in cultivated fields, but is a stubborn pest in parks, long term pastures, roadsides and other uncultivated areas.

Spraying with herbicides is only effective before the buds form about the first of June. It can be cut before the seeds form in late June or early July, but will in all probability send up new flower shoots so that it may be necessary to cut it several times during the growing season. Pulling the weed is one of the best ways of eliminating it.

If sprays are used 2,4-D or mixtures of 2,4-D/2,4,5-T at the rate of 8 to 12 ounces of acid per acre applied in late May should kill most of the plants.

DISEASE RESISTANCE IN FORAGE CROPS

Losses in forage production due to plant diseases are not so apparent to the average person as losses in cereal crops. Forage losses may often be confused by such terms as "suffering from drought," "poor soil" or "winter killing" when actually the grass is suffering from a disease. Mr. W. R. Childers of the Forage Crop Division at the Central Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa states that considerable work will have to be done if we are to have new disease resistant varieties for the future.

Plant selection for resistance may be carried out by the plant breeder in the green house or in field nurseries. Regardless of where the work is done it requires a good deal of ability, time and patience. An example of forage disease studies is that of rust in timothy. Improved varieties through selection such as Climax timothy are highly resistant to this disease. Even when rust spores are plentiful less than five per cent of the plants of the Climax variety will be badly infected. Other grass diseases responsible for losses in forage production are leaf-spot and ergot in one of our most popular grasses, namely brome. Leaf-spot may appear early in May as large black blotches on the leaves bordered by a yellow ring. As the season advances a high percentage of the leaves are killed by the invader. When brome is attacked by ergot, the seed is replaced by a black hardened false seed. This reduces the value of the crop and is harmful to cattle when eaten in large amounts.

SUMMER CARE OF LAYING HENS

While it is true that egg production of yearling hens tends to decline during the summer months, it is also true that extra attention to making the birds comfortable during hot weather will keep yields from falling too sharply, states W. F. Mountain, Head Poultryman at the Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont. Summer eggs, particularly the larger kinds laid by adult fowl, have been at a premium in recent years.

One of the most important needs of poultry in hot weather is a steady supply of cool drinking water. As means of holding water for poultry, ordinary pails are giving way to automatic systems. These, however, should be installed with a view towards complete efficiency. Covering exposed pipes with insulation or deeply burying the lead-in line tends to keep the water cool in summer as well as to lessen the danger from frost in winter.

The sun beating down on a poorly ventilated or uninsulated hen house builds up temperatures that do nothing but harm to the unfortunate hens. Windows in the rear of the building as well as the front to allow cross ventilation is a worthwhile feature in any hen house. Some form of insulated ceiling, even if it is made only of poultry netting covered with straw, is also of great help in avoiding extremes in temperatures.

Although hot weather places a strain on laying hens it seems that lice and mites thrive on it. A periodic search for these parasites should be made and if found on the birds or in cracks in the woodwork then measures of control should be started immediately. There have been developed several effective and easily applied preparations for getting rid of parasites and these are obtainable at any poultry supply house.

Another condition that comes with hot weather is the weakening of egg shells. This sometimes leads to further trouble in an outbreak of deliberate egg eating by some portion of the flock. Although the thin shell problem is not fully understood it can be eased by making sure that adequate amounts of oyster shell is available. Most mash formulas include supplementary forms of shell making material such as ground limestone or steamed bone meal but it is important that sufficient mash is consumed in order for these ingredients to be effective.

Attention should also be directed to the freshness of feed during hot weather. Not only has stale mash lost some essential food elements but it is not as palatable as newly mixed feed. Whatever storage of feed is necessary should be done in as cool and dry a place as may be possible.

In going over the list of things to do and not to do in regard to maintaining the best possible summer egg output one general principle stands out. That is, the necessity of watching for signs of distress among the hens and then taking whatever steps may be necessary to furnish relief.

METHODS OF ENSILING GRASS-LEGUME MIXTURES

When ensiling grass-legume mixtures many factors must be taken into consideration if you hope to obtain the highest possible quality silage at the lowest possible operating cost. W. T. Burns, Superintendent of the Experimental Station, Federal Department of Agriculture at Prince George,

B.C., advises that the most important points to consider are, the stage of maturity of the crop, the proportion of legume in the mixture, the acreage to be handled, the type of silo used and the available tractor, horse and manpower. From experience Mr. Burns suggests that swathing and wilting be practised. The forage harvester method appears to be most satisfactory for larger operations, and the buckrake method for smaller operations. Silos of the trench or surface type are most easily and cheaply filled.

Crops to be harvested at an early stage of maturity contain too much moisture to be satisfactorily stored as silage. At this stage they produce the highest yield of feed value making this the most desirable stage at which to harvest. Therefore the practice of swathing, and wilting to the correct moisture content must be adopted. At a late stage of maturity crops may be successfully stored without wilting but quality suffers in this case. Crops that are high in legumes require more wilting than other types of forage. This is due to the higher protein content which if too moist causes slime development and offensive odors.

Regardless of what method of harvesting is used in the field, silos of the surface or trench type which permit driving through may be filled with a minimum of trouble. Long uncut material from the buckrake or green loader, or cut material from the forage harvester can be hauled in with equal success. Upright silos must be filled with a blower and therefore the material must be cut either in the field or at the silo.

SERIOUS SWINE DISEASE IN ONTARIO IDENTIFIED

A disease prevalent in herds of swine throughout Ontario has been identified as Glasser's Disease, reports the Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph.

The disease appears in pigs in certain districts during the first three months of life, rarely in older animals. Affected pigs show a slight fever sometimes accompanied by coughing and frequently by sore joints. The joints most frequently affected are those of the hips, hocks and knees. Circumstances such as transportation, the presence of parasites, and change of ration appear to increase the possibility of this infection occurring in swine.

The disease was described a number of years ago by Glasser and his associates in Hanover, Germany. The several cases occurring in Ontario were studied at the Ontario Veterinary College by Dr. G. R. Carter of the Department of Bacteriology. After months of work he was able to show that the disease was caused by organisms midway in size between bacteria and viruses.

The forests generate a quarter of the income of all Canadians.

HONEY CROP FOR 1954

Twenty-five per cent less honey was produced in Canada in 1954 than in the previous year. This was the smallest honey crop on record since the year 1920. Approximately 26 million pounds of honey was produced in 1953 and only about 20 million pounds in 1954.

Due to unfavourable weather conditions average yields per colony in 1954 dropped to a low of about 49 pounds as compared with a per colony production of around 77 pounds in 1953. Contrary to what you might expect from these production figures the number of Canadian beekeepers increased in 1954 by approximately 1,000. This brought the total up to slightly under 15,000 beekeepers, with 339,700 colonies.

FOUR IMPORTANT SAFETY RULES

To avoid bringing harm to children in traffic, the Ontario Safety League suggests that drivers follow four cardinal safety rules. The rules are:

1. Always expect the unexpected where children are concerned, remembering that children are unpredictable and that the motorist must think for them in traffic.
2. Give young bike riders every break.
3. Drive with extreme caution near schools and playgrounds and in residential areas — in fact, near any place where children may be expected to gather.
4. Be especially alert in schools areas for signs, signals, traffic police, school patrols and for children themselves.

Easiest, Cheapest way to WEED CORN

HERBATE 2,4-D

Saves work... Cuts costs

For only 35 cents' worth of HERBATE 2,4-D you can clear out the weeds in an acre of corn. HERBATE 2,4-D saves you time and money... helps you get bigger and more profitable yields.

HERBATE 2,4-D, applied at recommended stage of growth, kills most broad-leaved weeds with no risk of crop damage. It kills sensitive weeds outright and controls more resistant ones.

C-1-L MCP Sodium is especially recommended for weed-kill in peas and other sensitive crops, including corn and also grain crops seeded to legumes (except sweet clover).

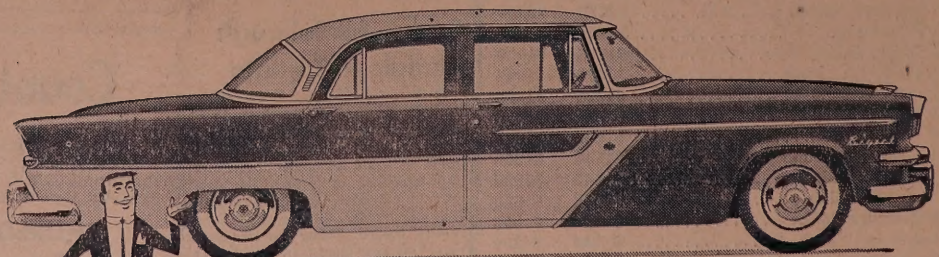

HERBATE Amine 80 works more slowly than Esters... is safer near 2,4-D susceptible crops. Especially suited to weed control in cereal crops.

HERBATE Ester 64 is highly effective for control of 2,4-D susceptible species of brush as well as weeds.

Bush -- McCullough Nutials At Toronto

In Roger's Memorial Presbyterian Church, Toronto, on May 28th, 1955, Mazie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCullough, of Toronto, became the bride of Gerald Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bush, of Stirling. Rev. Jas. M. Milroy officiated and Miss Marilyn Eggleton, soloist, Stirling, sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white full length gown featuring a strapless tucked bodice of Chantilly lace which extended to an Empire waistline and came to points over a full skirt of tulle over satin. The jacket was of Chantilly lace with sleeves which came to points at the wrists. Her finger tip veil fell from a wattleau cap of lace encrusted with pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Lorraine Parten, matron of honour, wore a pink taffeta waltz-length dress and the bridesmaids, Misses Joan Rea and Ruth McCullough, wore blue taffeta waltz-length dresses with matching crownless picture hats of lace and net. They carried Colonial nosegays of pink carnations, red roses and iris.

Mr. Harold Bush, of Stirling, was best man for his brother and the usher were Mr. Carman Richards and Mr. Tex McCullough.

To receive at Margaret's, the bride's mother wore a dress of lime green lace over yellow taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a dress of navy blue lace over navy taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter I.O.D.E. Attends Divine Service At St. Paul's

Rev. A. Packman Gives Inspiring Message On The Theme "Star of Empire"

The officers and members of the Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter, I.O.D.E., attended divine service in St. Paul's United Church at 11 a.m. on Sunday last. A large congregation was present to welcome the visiting organization.

During the singing of the processional hymn Mrs. Grant Stapley, the standard bearer, slowly advanced to the altar and placed the colours to the right of the pulpit, while the members of the Order took their place in the front pews.

Rev. A. Packman conducted the service and warmly welcomed the visiting organization.

During the service the Junior Choir rendered the anthem "All Glory, Laud and Honour," and the senior choir, "Eternal Ruler." A solo, "The Voice in the Wilderness," was sung by Jack Bush.

The minister spoke on "Star of the Empire" and reminded his hearers that on three occasions in modern history the decay of a once mighty Empire has plunged the world into war. In our own day, it was the Austrian Empire whose decline and fall paved the way for the events of 1914. At the close of the 18th Century the tragic fall of the French Monarchy produced 22 years of conflict. At the close of the 17th Century the weakness was with the Spanish Monarchy.

No thoughtful person can be aware of these things and listen without some anxiety of the easy chatter of the ill-informed whose special tit-bit of yesterday was — "Britain is finished."

"And I want you to notice that in the title I have chosen — Two Worlds Meet. Star of Empire. Heaven and Earth. God and Man. And only insofar as these two are kept together will Britain or any other nation stand," stated Rev. Packman.

In earlier days men paid much attention to Astrology, they kept their eyes glued to the skies; read the ed that heavens governed the earth; stars; foretold the future and believ-

Snatching At

The Star

The tragedy in the history of the world is in that man has tried to snatch the star from the skies. Man has tried to make the star an earthly thing, or to destroy it.

The Roman Catholics tried to get rid of it by force under Hilderbrand. He tried to establish the ROMAN SEER by force. And the light of the star dimmed, and nearly went out. Certainly, a few faithful souls kept it in their skies.

In Israel there came a great king and then a young fellow to the throne, a Cyrus he thought himself, and all the dignity and importance of the Kingdom went down the drain.

In Russia what is it but an attempt to capture the rainbow, to snatch the star from the sky. The red star is but the latest attempt to usurp the throne of God, to make of the Heavenly an earthly thing.

But the star does not belong to the earth. Man has no right to it. "Thou shalt worship the Lord Thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve."

"So with ourselves — If we give to the earthly, the heavenly place — giving to prosperity and industry and commerce the highest place, God will remove our star. So with the church ... He who holds the seven stars in his hand will cast us aside.

Where Does

Britain Stand?

Where does Britain and the Empire and the Commonwealth stand before the judgment seat of God in this matter?

Star of Empire indeed, but is it His Star or have we made it an earthly thing? To answer such questions as that we must take whatever evidence

Conservatives Returned To Power With Eighty-Three Seats In The Legislature

W. E. "Sandy" Sandercock, of Belleville, Conservative member who has represented Hastings West in the Provincial Legislature for the past eight years, gained a sweeping victory in last Thursday's election with an unofficial majority of 5,440. Mr. Sandercock defeated Liberal candidate Irvine McGaughey, of Trenton, and C.C.F. candidate, William Mundry, of Belleville, both of whom were making their first bid in Provincial politics.

In piling up his record majority Mr. Sandercock won at every poll but one in Belleville for a majority of 2,595 and scored an upset in Trenton where he won the traditionally Liberal town with a majority of 310.

Sidney Township maintained its Conservative loyalty giving Mr. Sandercock 1377, McGaughey 869 and Mundry 125. Rawdon gave the Conservative 649, the Liberal 103 and the CCF candidate 15. Bancroft came through with 455 Conservative votes, 102 Liberal and 56 CCF.

Wells was leaving the staff, but wished both he and Mr. Ron Williams, who also is leaving, every success in their new positions. Miss Winnifred Hay presented Mr. Wells with a fountain pen and pencil set and Mr. Williams with a Ronson lighter — tokens of the esteem in which they were held by the other staff members.

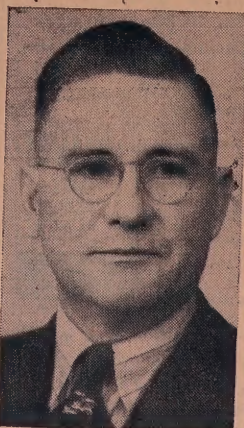

All enjoyed a pleasant social evening and concluded the party with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Stirling Band Concert, Victoria Park Sunday Night, June 19th

Mrs. John Hay Hostess To Mount Pleasant W.M.S.

The June meeting of Mount Pleasant Rawdon Woman's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday of last week at the home of Mrs. John Hay and the ladies admired the lovely rose and peony gardens.

The Stewardship Secretary provided a bouquet of lovely roses for the table and later these were sent to the President. Thirteen members, three visitors and four children were in attendance.

Mrs. Eric Summers, Vice-President, carried out the plans of the President, which she had arranged before going to hospital. She read a prayer of meditation and all sang "O Lord and Master of Us All," followed by prayer.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave her report and the roll call keyword was "prayer." The Treasurer reported $16.00 for May. Judy McAdam gathered the offering which was dedicated with a hymn. Several articles were handed in for the supply sales and this included two crib quilts. The Community Friendship Secretary gave a special message re evil associations and liquor.

Mrs. Herbert Smith and Miss Ruth Linn presented a Stewardship pageant with a hymn of consecration. White candles symbolized God's ownership; blue candles, the loyal use of time; green candles, growth of talents; and yellow candles, the multitude of things I possess.

A letter from the Literature Secretary was read and a record taken of books read. The July meeting will be held at the Church Hall. The W.M.S. will entertain the Mission Band, Baby members and their mothers. Mrs. Burton Sharpe, leader of the Mission Band and Mrs. Robert Merrick, leader of the Baby Band, will arrange the programme.

Mrs. Ross Jeffs brought the Missionary message from "The Monthly and Missionaries Reporting."

This is anniversary year in Angola as it is seventy-five years since the first Protestant Missionary work was begun at Ballundo and a special anniversary was observed at that place in May. The celebration included music by two African choirs, the presentation of a religious drama and a communion service.

Mrs. Jeffs read a letter from Miss Anne E. Copithorne, Missionary at Camundogo, Anola, Africa, which told of miracles of healing in leper camps and the transformation made in the lives of the natives who have been shackled with fear, witchcraft and disease, and now they have heard the good news which has changed their lives.

Mrs. John Mulheron took charge of the Devotional and prayer which she had arranged. It was regretted that there was no study chapter. The service opened with "Love Divine" and a selection on "The Power of Prayer."

Mrs. Will McAdam read "The Game Guy's Prayer" and Mrs. Ira David read the Bible Lesson. Mrs. Mulheron gave a message from the book entitled, "Prayer," by Frank C. Lauback and offered a special prayer for the president's recovery.

Mrs. John Holmes gave a paper on "The Value of Prayer" and read a couple of appropriate poems. The convener and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher closed the programme with a duet, "God be in my head and in my understanding."

The hostess and her assistants served light refreshments and Mrs. Summers voiced thanks for hospitality and programme.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

I stopped to talk to a man on the street a few days ago who closed the conversation with this: "We do a lot of complaining about the weather, and the government etc., but when you come to think about it, complaining is about all you can do these days without paying for it."

Rustic Philosophy

One of the joys about living in such places as Stirling is the everyday good humour and practical commonsense with which you meet among the "lads of the village."

Take Bob Eaton, for instance. Bob is a practical philosopher. Several of us were squatting around in Harvey Pitcher's place the other day when Bob said, "Heck, what's the good of kicking, you only hurt your own toes."

Then there is Tom Spry as a good example. I would like to make a gift of Tom to some country where rationing is still in force. Tom sort of says to you: "Everything is rationed, O.K., but what about happiness, no one rations happiness or just feeling pleased do they?"

"Neither do they" says I to myself as I walk out into the unrationed sunshine.

Then Morley Haggerty comes in. Morley doesn't say much. Come to think about it, I don't know that he ever says anything. But he just sits down and looks friendly.

Of course, you can get into a bit of an argument with lads such as Will Patterson. If you want an argument and Will always leaves you with a feeling that you have lost most of your clothes. One of these days I am going to get into a clinch with Will just to see how far his good humour stretches, because after he has torn you to bits, or your garments, he just looks at you as though he likes you.

I am having some trouble with my potatoes. But first let me tell you of Joe down the line who took his boy away from school. Asked why, Joe said: "Do you think I am going to send my boy to a school where they teach him to spell taters with a p."

As I was saying, I am having a little trouble with my 'taters. Bruce Stapley tells me it is because I planted them at the wrong time, I should have planted them at full moon.

We have some fun at Harv's. Harv. sells things I believe, I needed a pair of shears to trim the grass with, so off I went to Harv's. "Got some shears Harv," I asked. "Well," said Harv, "if you come back after dinner I might have." So I returned after dinner and there he had a lovely pair of new shears. Handing them to me Harv asked, "Think they will suit you?" "Yep," said I. "They are yours," said Harv. "No good to me, I am left handed."

Of course, you sometimes meet up with a fellow of the five "H" Club, though not at Harv's.

If you have not run into that type yet or don't know what it means, you will get a good definition in the usual, reads like this — "The five 'H' club stands for 'Heck, how he hates himself.'"

Wet Bait

I like to get around on Monday mornings. After Sunday I get a bit anxious. This Monday I met up with a few who had been posted as "Missing" on Sunday. Looking at me without batting an eyelid, one of them said, "I got an awful cold yesterday." I suggested that in future he should use dry bait.

However, I said, when I come 'round in future on Monday morning it won't be for an explanation, it will be for the collection."

Definition Of A Gentleman

One who can use a white collar without feeling uncomfortable.

But if you want to approach the matter in a practical way the best places are the golf course and the highway.

Genius

A poet is one who has the genius of bringing words together. He makes words sing.

That is why I love the King James' version of the Bible. At the Bay of Quinte Conference last week, I listened to a great man read the Bible. He made it sing, or perhaps it is that in the case of the Bible when rightly read we find it a song. No doubt that is partly what the Psalmist meant when he said: "The Lord is my strength and my song." I would venture to say that all many of us need in order to get a lift in life is read the Bible.

After all, Communism and Atheism begins where reading the Bible ends. No man can be either a Communist or an Atheist who reads the Bible.

"When wisdom entereth into thine heart, And knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul;

Discretion shall preserve thee, Understanding shall keep thee:

To deliver thee from the way of evil men."

To Attend Chicago Conference

Mr. and Mrs. John Orser and Donarene are planning a vacation trip to Chicago, where they will attend an assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses. This is one of a series of eleven conventions being arranged on this continent and in Europe. The Orsers expect to leave June 20th by automobile. A total of 40,000 is expected to attend. The eleven cities chosen for this world-sweeping series are Chicago, Vancouver, Los Angeles, Dallas, New York, London, Paris, Rome, Nuremberg, Stockholm and The Hague.

The Watch Tower Society is making arrangements to send over 4,500 delegates to the European assemblies. While in Chicago they will visit with Mrs. Orser's sister, Vera, Mrs. Hugh George.

St. Andrew's W.M.S. June Meeting

The June meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held at the Manse on Monday afternoon. The attendance was very encouraging. The President, Mrs. Roy Eggleton, welcomed the members and offered a sincere prayer for missionary enthusiasm for all the members. After the singing of the hymn, "Courage Brother, Do Not Stumble," Mrs. L. Rodgers read the Scripture Lesson, Psalm 27. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. H. V. Walker on behalf of those who were not able to attend.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. E. Cain. The word "courage" was the keyword for the roll call. With faith and courage we must press forward. The Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. R. A. Hermiston.

The second part of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. E. Hoard. A reading "The Will To Be Brave," was given by Mrs. Hoard. Thomas Carlyle became so discouraged that he thought of doing away with himself. One night a new determination was born in him and from that hour he dated his new birth of courage.

A piano solo, "In the Sweet By and By," was played by Mrs. R. H. Williams. Music does much to enhance the spirit of the meeting.

The story of the Bible Society in India was read by Mrs. Harold McGee. The Bible Society publishes the Scripture in whole or in part in 120 languages each year. With the growth of the church there has been a greater interest est in the aims and activities of the Bible Society. The Indian version of the 23rd Psalm was read by Mrs. H. Rollins. An enlightened reader of the Glad Tidings makes an interesting W.M.S. worker.

The topic on the health and food of India was taken by Mrs. W. L. Anderson. Food is the connecting link between work and health. Without work there is no food except what is provided by charity. Certainly without work there is not the proper food and then health suffers. Most of India's nurses are coming from Christian families. They are possessed of the spirit of Florence Nightingale to whom nursing was a profession of mercy, love and service to face the problem of being a nurse in their country.

The life history of two of India's nurses was given by Mrs. Don Farney and Mrs. W. H. V. Walker.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. E. Hoard.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. E. Hoard, Mrs. W. L. Anderson and Mrs. Ken Ray, served a fine afternoon tea. On behalf of the society, Mrs. B. Reid expressed the thanks of every member present for the missionary programme and lunch.

Former Tax Collector Found Guilty

Leroy Woods, 47, tax collector for Sidney Township until 1951, Tuesday was found guilty of theft of more than $1,000 in tax receipts.

Ross Neal, of Deseronto, an accountant retained by the Township to check tax roles, testified in Hastings County Court that books showed a discrepancy in excess of $15,000.

The jury added a plea for leniency. Woods was released on renewal of bail and Judge Smith, of Napanee, set sentence over until June 20th.

Discrepancies in tax records covered a period from 1946 to 1951. Woods' resignation was accepted by Township Council in 1951.

Nine Acres Planted With Seed Corn

For Trenton Rotary

Trenton Rotarians turned farmers Saturday to start one of the club's largest projects rolling. While actual plowing and planting were done by Frank Morgan, a farmer of the Stirling area, the big job planting nine acres with corn was under the supervision of Rotarian John J. Jones and his committee.

Through the good offices of Rotarian Cliff Baker, the nine-acre site in the village of Stirling was donated by the Trent Cotton Company Ltd. for the growing of corn to aid in Rotary's work on behalf of crippled children.

Clear, warm weather favoured the planting Saturday, and the work was completed by Mr. Morgan quickly and efficiently with the aid of tractor and planter.

Yield from the nine acres will be purchased by Stokely-Van Camp of Canada Ltd., Trenton branch. It is expected that if growing conditions are favourable the crop will realize a substantial sum.

At a later date Rotarians will go in a body to the cornfield to look after cultivating and weeding.

June Bride Honoured

Miss Beverly Morgan and her mother, Mrs. Harold Morgan, were hostesses at a shower in honour of Miss Ruth Donnan, bride of the month, recently, with several girl friends as guests.

Ruth was given a seat of honour, which was decorated with pretty pink and white bows and streamers. Over her head was suspended a decorated umbrella from which hung balloons filled with confetti. The balloons were burst at different intervals showering the bride-to-be with confetti. Several games and contests were enjoyed during the evening.

The bride-to-be then opened her gifts which consisted of kitchen gadgets, towels, china, vases and several other articles. Ruth thanked everyone for their lovely gifts and asked one and all to visit her in her new home in Stirling.

A dainty lunch was served by Beverly and her helpers. The guests then departed for home wishing Ruth much happiness.

150 Tons of Paper Lost In Blaze

Fire Tuesday night burned 150 tons of paper in the stockhouse of the Strathcona Paper Co., five miles east of Napanee. One fireman, Basil Balfance, of Strathcona, was overcome by smoke and required medical treatment.

Cause of the fire was unknown. Plant manager Lloyd Finlay said damage would be about $15,000.

Tourists May Explore Caves

A couple of Canadian cave explorers have come up with an idea for tourists — an underground journey into the prehistoric period.

Tom Woodward and Stan Guignard plan to make safe for visitors the timeless chain of caves underlying an area four miles down the Bonnechere River from Eganville, 80 miles west of Ottawa.

They plan to rechannel the Bonnechere from its cavern course of countless milleniums and build special dry walkways so that visitors may wander between the stalactites and see life as it existed during the ordovician period 390,000,000 years ago.

For, buried in the silt and rock, are the remains of trilobites, molluscs and brachiopods of the period. Even a cephalopod, great grand-daddy of the giant squid, is embedded for permanent view. Primitive corals and stalactites complete the scene.

The two cave-men, known professionally as spelologists and popularly as spelunkers, so far share the caves only with the big, brown rats that hibernate there and geologists and biologists who occasionally investigate.

Using maps marked in 1853 by a local geologist, A. Murray, they soon hope to have Ontario's only eroded caves open to all hardy tourists.

Gold Cord Award

At latest count there were 288,000 mink, 16,000 chinchillas and 5,300 foxes on Canadian fur farms.

Honoured On 15th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bronson celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary on Thursday evening, June 9th. A large number of their friends and relatives gathered at their home to congratulate them on this very special occasion. After a few games and a very special time together, the gathering was called to order and the following address was read by Mrs. Nathan Bronson.

Madoc, R.R. 4.

Dear Arthur and Fern:

We, your friends and neighbours of this community, have gathered here this evening in your home to celebrate with you on the occasion of fifteen years of wedded life.

You have always lived among us and we have always found you both to be such good neighbours, always willing to lend a helping hand when needed. Your home has been blessed with a family, and the establishment of a home is a grand and sacred task where the light of love always shines brightly each day. You have taken your children to Sunday School and Service. We older folk have seen you grow from childhood up, and the younger folk have been your playmates in school and like many of us you have had your sunny days and your sorrowing days as well.

We now ask you to accept these gifts, not for their value, but for the love and friendship and good wishes that go with them. May the years that lie ahead of you remind you of the many happy gathering that we have enjoyed together. Wishing you both joy and may God's richest blessing abide with you always.

Signed on behalf of your friends, neighbours and Sunday School workers, Harold McCann and Donlon Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bronson made very suitable replies, thanking everyone for the lovely gifts and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

A very bountiful lunch was served with an abundance of ice cream.

Girl Guides Receive Badges At Annual Banquet

Electronic brush saves money on costly wire

— promotes trouble-free telephone service

In little ways as well as big we're always on the search for trouble-shooters that will not only protect your telephone service but keep its costs down, too...

Here a Bell technician is testing the telephone lines in your neighborhood. Carefully and quickly his hand brushes the circuits in the telephone building with an electronic "line patrol". He is hunting for weather-worn wires which may cause a noisy line or snap during a storm.

Forewarned by this periodic testing we send a man to change the faulty line—which could be the "drop line" running from your home to the main telephone cable.

Because of this electric detective we can use expensive wire until its service life expires fully, without sacrificing material or manpower. And that helps us to keep your telephone costs down.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Weed of the Week

RESTORE PASTURE PRODUCTION BY ELIMINATING WEEDS

In highly productive seeded pastures weed control is incidental to other management practices. In these pastures clipping, fertilizing, controlled grazing and periodic breaking and re-seeding do not give weeds much chance to thrive reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

In natural, unworkable pastures however, some of which are too rough even for mowing, weeds eventually take over and production is reduced below the profit level. Some of the more common weeds found in weak sod are Cinquefoil, Oxeye Daisy, Blue Weed, King Devil, Paint Brush. To control these pests requires a double barreled programme. The weeds must be eliminated and then the grass cover must be improved.

Those weeds common to natural pastures are all susceptible to 2,4-D if it is applied at the right time. From 12 to 16 ounces of ester type acid per acre applied in late spring, or early summer, followed by a second treatment in early fall will reduce pasture weeds very substantially. A "Brodjet" type of sprayer will do this on any land where it is possible to drive a tractor.

The second part of the programme is to encourage grass cover. Controlled grazing, fertilizer applications, and new seed sown on the bare spots are all important factors in restoring and maintaining the production of natural pastures.

Maximum success in the renovation of pastures without cultivation depends on the elimination of weeds which would otherwise take the lion's share of plant food and moisture, both of which should be available for the production of grass.

DAIRY PRODUCTS USING WORD BUTTER

Ever wondered how many dairy implements and products used the word butter?

Officials of the Ontario Cream Producers' Marketing Board did, so they checked a Funk and Wagnall's dictionary, and learned, among others, about these:

Butter bowl or butter carrier, a box for conveying butter uninjured.

Butter cow, butter crock, butter dairy, butter extractor, butter firkin (sometimes a measure), butter knife, butter ladle, butter man, butter mold, butter print, butter stamp, butter paddle, butter pat, butter rations, butter tongs, butter tub, butter wife, butter woman, butter worker, creamery butter, dairy butter.

Those, they found, were the chief ones listed, but the word butter and its derivatives took up a lot of space. Since butter has been so popular so long, there were such words as butter fingered, butter flip, buttermilk and even butterfly.

There was even butter ale, which the dictionary described as beer brewed without bitter ingredients, and flavoured with butter, sugar and spices.

And, having got that far, the cream producers stopped for lunch, which was served plain, everyday tasty butter.

EFFECTS OF SURFACE DRAINAGE ON SOIL TEMPERATURE

Surface drainage produces warmer soils both in the spring and during the growing season. A report from the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa indicates that this practice of removing excess water from the surface of the soil especially in the spring, allows farmers to cultivate sooner and provides a seed bed with a temperature closed to what it should be for plant growth. This principle is used to full advantage when provision is made so that runoff water from rainfall does not stay too long on the ground surface during the germination period.

Poorly drained soils are sometimes referred to as cold soils. Such a reference is true because of the high water content of these soils. It takes from 5 to 10 times more heat to produce a one degree rise in the temperature of a given weight of water, than of the same weight of dry soil.

Investigations during the summer of 1954 in Carleton County showed that the temperature of undrained soils under a crop of oats was from 3 to 8 degrees Fahrenheit lower, than the temperature of the same soil properly drained. Where potatoes were grown the soil temperature was from 0 to 13 degrees lower in the undrained soils.

HINTS ON SAVING NEW BORN PIGS

Losses of new-born and young pigs can be reduced considerably if proper attention is paid to the pregnant sow several months before farrowing. E. B. Fraser of the Animal Husbandry Division at the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa, advises that strong healthy pigs can be produced that will withstand the shocks of their early life if the pregnant sow is fed a balanced feed mixture.

The importance of the problem is emphasized by the high loss of pigs between birth and weaning which constitutes a direct loss to the swine producer. Most factors which contribute to this mortality can be overcome by careful management practices.

The balanced feed mixture recommended by Mr. Fraser is made up of coarse grains and protein, mineral, and vitamin supplements. While all parts of the ration are important, the vitamin requirements seem particularly necessary. High quality green leafy alfalfa hay is an important source of vitamins for winter feeding to the brood sow.

Among other factors vital to reducing little pig losses cleanliness is perhaps of foremost importance. A clean sow in a clean farrowing pen should be the objective. This means scrubbing and disinfecting the farrowing pen and washing the sow. Crushing of the young pigs can be prevented if guard rails are constructed around the walls of the farrowing pen. Further precautions should be taken to ensure a warm dry environment, and if electricity is available a brooder with a heat lamp will prove useful.

EFFECT OF CHEMICAL SPRAYS ON HONEY PRODUCTION

Potential bee pasture over recent years has been seriously reduced by the use of herbicidal sprays on roadsides. Mr. E. Braun of the Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa, suggests that those in charge of roadside spraying campaigns across Canada for the control of noxious weeds give some thought to this destruction. True, roadside spraying destroys the weeds but unfortunately it also destroys early spring sources of nectar and pollen such as trees and shrubs, dandelions, golden rod and several other native plants.

Weed control may be considered of foremost importance to the municipality or country and rightly so, but methods other than chemical control have been used in many areas with good success. Seeding the roadsides with a clover crop will control noxious weeds, provide a source of pasture for bees, and at the same time provide a hay crop which can be harvested at the proper time. If you calculate the acreage of land devoted to roadsides in your district you may be surprised at the number of acres which could be utilized to your advantage.

In the past few years in addition to destruction of roadside growth the area has been increased by the application of chemicals beneath hydro and telephone lines. In these cases, after the chemical has done its job the appearance of the treated area is unsightly and numerous birds and beneficial insects have been destroyed along with plant life. Caution in the use of these sprays if they are to be used is advised to keep damage of cultivated plants adjoining the treated areas down to a minimum.

Easiest, Cheapest way to WEED CORN HERBATE 2,4-D

Saves work... Cuts costs

For only 35 cents' worth of HERBATE 2,4-D you can clear out the weeds in an acre of corn. HERBATE 2,4-D saves you time and money... helps you get bigger and more profitable yields.

HERBATE 2,4-D, applied at recommended stage of growth, kills most broad-leaved weeds with no risk of crop damage. It kills sensitive weeds outright and controls more resistant ones.

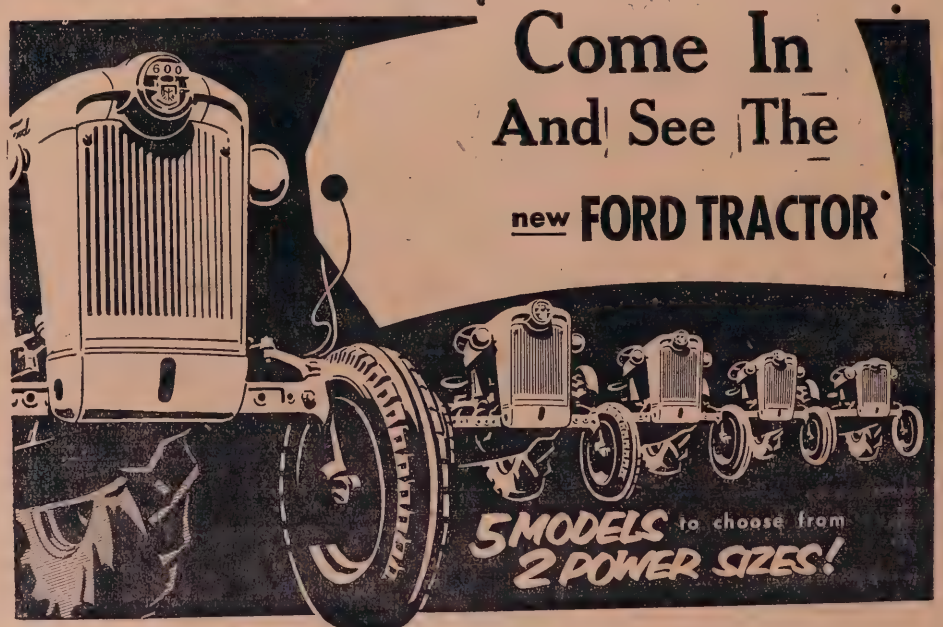

C-1-1 MCP Sodium is especially recommended for weed-kill in peas and other sensitive crops, including corn and also grain crops seeded to legumes (except sweet clover).

HERBATE Amine 80 works more slowly than Esters... is safer near 2,4-D susceptible crops. Especially suited to weed control in cereal rye crops.

HERBATE Ester 64 is highly effective for control of 2,4-D susceptible species of brush as well as weeds.

Hastings County Farmers At O.A.C.

A group representing the Hastings County Crop Improvement Association and the Holstein Club, visited the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and points of interest in Western Ontario on June 10th and 11th. Arrangements were made for the tour by the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, while the transportation was arranged by the combined bus committee of the two Associations.

On Friday over 7,000 farmers and their families were in attendance at the College and the entire afternoon was spent in seeing the various points of interest at the College. This included a livestock parade, "safety on the farm" demonstration, a tour of the plots, and free time to visit the various departments to discuss any problems that the farmers might have which they wished to solve. In the evening the group journeyed to Elora to see the gorge on Grand River and from there, visited the Shand Dam on the Grand River. Saturday's tour included a visit to the Rock Gardens in Hamilton, a shopping stop in Weston, and a two-hour stop at the Massey-Harris farms at Milliken. At the Massey-Harris Farm, the Holstein and Shorthorn herds proved of interest as did the contour farming and the visit to the test track. The group arrived home in Hastings County around 8.30 p.m., feeling that they had had an enjoyable and worthwhile trip, and some even suggested that next year's trip be a three-day trip, farther into Western Ontario.

Teachers Given Presentation By Pupils and Staff

At the last general assembly held at the Stirling High School on Tuesday of last week, the students and staff met in the gymnasium where a presentation was made to the two teachers who were leaving at the end of this term.

Principal Good spoke briefly and outlined the part each of the two teachers had taken while a member of the school staff, in carrying out the instructional duties as well as co-operating in all other activities that go to make up school life. He especially mentioned that Mr. Wells had joined the staff in 1938 as a part time employee when the shop addition was added and had carried out the shop instruction efficiently and without mishap for the last seventeen years; needless to say he was very sorry to have Mr. Wells leave the staff and school.

In referring to Mr. Williams, Mr. Good spoke of the excellent job he had done in assisting with the academic instruction throughout the school. Although a newcomer from England, and also his first year at teaching he said that Mr. Williams had done well by the school.

Ron Hadley, President of the Student's Council, spoke next and presented the students' viewpoint towards the teachers who were leaving. He said the students had enjoyed and profited very much by having both Mr. Wells and Mr. Williams as teachers during their time of service with the school. The students, he said, were sorry to have them leave, but wished them the best of happiness and good luck in their new schools.

On behalf of the staff and student body, Ron next presented Mr. Wells with a trout rod and reel and a tackle box; while at the same time, Mr. Williams was presented with a man's travelling kit.

Both Mr. Wells and Mr. Williams replied briefly, thanking the staff and students not only for their parting gift, but also for their co-operation and the fine spirit of friendliness that had existed between them at all times.

Presentation To Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison

Rev. W. G. Fletcher presided. Miss Jean Sutherland gave a piano solo. Selections were read by Mrs. Don Drewry and Mrs. Herbert Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Broadworth rendered a vocal duet and Miss Ruth Mumby gave an accordion solo. A is at hand. There was a day when Britain went astray, and all authorities known to me admit it. The lust for power was seen, the Imperialistic Temper took control, or so it seems. Perhaps if we knew more about the world of that day we would have to say — the end justified the means.

But there did come a day, thank God, when that policy was rejected and at a time when Britain was the supreme power on earth, and there were none to challenge it. There did come a day when she turned her thoughts to the making of nations, and certainly, Canada might well remember it.

India was nursed from the jungle to a state of self-respect, and given the training for self-rule. And it is interesting to notice that India is today, and of her own wish, an integral part of the Commonwealth of Nations.

Star of the Empire indeed, and who will say that Britain has not used her power to help establish the Empire of Christ.

Women And The Empire

In the history of Israel — Israel 21 and 22 are some striking stories.

A man reigned two years and did evil in sight of the Lord.

And then, the ruling class of the nation got hold of the young boy named Josiah and made him king. He reigned 31 years.

For many years the affairs of the nation were bent towards the imitation of greatness. Then one day the book of the law was found in the newly decorated temple. It was read and then the king sent his men to the prophetess Huldah. It was a woman, a married woman; the real power behind the throne was a woman.

One is not unmindful of the part our women play in the affairs of community and nation, concluded Rev. Packman.

Seven of Canada's ten provinces are larger in area than the United Kingdom.

Accept Offer of Survey

The offer of Graham, Reid and Associates, of Toronto, for an initial survey of the Village for the installation of sewerage in the Village was accepted by Council and Clerk Mallory was instructed to advise the company accordingly.

A lengthy discussion ensued on a drainage problem on the west end of Front St. at Annis St. Reeve West gave a complete report on the matter, subsequent to a visit of Highway engineers on Monday. Highway No. 33 will eventually be resurfaced and providing the Village puts a storm sewer along the north side of West Front St. from Green St. to Annis the Department will surface the street right to the sidewalk. A 36-inch tile will also be placed under the street to replace the existing drain providing the Village will keep the ditch along Johns St. open.

On motion of Councillors Philp and Ray the Clerk was authorized to write the Highways Divisional Engineer assuring him of the Village's willingness to co-operate in opening the drainage ditch along Johns St., which lies between Mr. Armstrong's residence and the Armstrong Mill.

The action of the street committee in ordering culverts was confirmed on motion of Messrs. Wells and Bradshaw.

On motion of Philp and Bradshaw the purchase of a number of stop signs and street signs was authorized. Reeve West expressed the thanks and appreciation of Council to ex-Councillor J. V. Holt for efforts in interviewing Department of Highways officials relative to the drainage of Front St. West.

The following accounts were presented for payment: Stirling News-Argus, $16.00; County of Hastings, $15.00; J. J. Turner Co., $13.55; and E. Wanamaker, $4.75.

St. Paul's W.M.S. Entertained Baby And Mission Band

On June 14th St. Paul's Woman's Missionary Auxiliary had the privilege of entertaining the Mission and Baby Bands of the church.

The W.M.A. meeting opened with quiet music by Mrs. Robert Hultin. The President, Mrs. George Carlisle, presided. She gave the call to worship with a poem based on the 1st Psalm and led in prayer. The hymn, "Come, let us sing of a wonderful love," closed the worship part of the meeting.

The Secretary, Mrs. D. Luery, read the minutes and called the roll. The Treasurer's report gave the May total as $47.20. Mrs. S. Williams reported 10 house calls and 1 hospital call for the visiting committee.

Mrs. J. McCaughen gave a splendid report of the Mission Band, reporting 10 meetings each year since 1952. They have sold about $500.00 worth of greeting cards and also have used the mite boxes to help with missionary gifts. The Mission Band always have a worship service and all can recite the Mission Band Purpose. They are taught that God is a Loving Father and loves all children alike, and that they must love Him and each other. They take keen interest in the study book and can answer questions well.

Mrs. W. Wilkins gave an interesting report on the Baby Band. She stated that the Baby Band was important: (1) Because educators realize the basis of a child's character is formed in the first six years; (2) They are taught Jesus way is the helping one; (3) The children can play and sing together; (4) They learn "giving" while they are young. The mothers have opportunity to get literature for the little tots from the Missionary library.

Programme

Mrs. W. T. Elliott presided for the programme, which was arranged by Mrs. F. Jeffrey. The hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountain" was sung. Mrs. Elliott gave the theme of the meeting "Love" and read First Corinthians 13. She stated that the word "charity" has been translated in different meanings, but that "Christian Love" and "Charity" are synonymous. They imply an ideal social relation. She spoke of the inscription "Love Is Eternal" on the wedding ring which Abe Lincoln gave to Mary Todd; of the preaching of Henry Ward Beecher and concluded with the words of his sister, Marriet Beecher Stow, "Love is the seraph, Faith and Hope are the wings by which it flies." The last verse of "Come let us sing of a wonderful love" was sung softly and Mrs. Elliott led in prayer. Mrs. R. A. Patterson gave a book review of the story about India "Behind Mud Walls." It told of rural development and described a typical Indian village and the life of its inhabitants. It explained the caste system and the menial place of women and stated that the caste are actually treated better than the women. The book closed with the village's own thoughts and hopes that they could have the "Perfect Love" which casteth out fear.

Baby Band Programme

The Baby Band arrived at 3 o'clock and gave a delightful programme. With Mrs. H. West at the piano and Mrs. Wilkins leading, the children sang a motion song, "Praise Him, All Ye Little Children." The leader and children repeated the Mission Baby Band prayer. The theme song, "Jesus Loves the Little Children," was sung and all repeated a verse. The children were then served ice cream and cookies.

Mission Band Programme

The Mission Band arrived at 4 o'clock. While they were assembling Mrs. R. Stapley played two accordion solos, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow," and "Near to the Heart of God." The ladies of the W.M.S. had a chance to see and purchase some of the display of aprons, candles, cards and toys made by the Mission Band. Mrs. McCaughen, Mission Band Leader, called the roll. Forty children responded out of fifty-five on the roll. The offering was taken and dedicated by singing the hymn, "We Give Thee But Thine Own." The Mission Band Purpose was repeated and the World Friends magazine distributed. Mrs. Stapley then gave two more accordion selections, "Precious Name" and "Jesus Bids Us Shine," with the children joining in the songs.

A playlet, "Thank You, Canada," was enacted by five members of the Band. This showed how badly help was needed in India and through Canadian giving they had received much needed food and medicine with doctors and nurses to care for them. The first scene showed a sick starving baby in a poor home in India. The second scene took place in the hospital where the baby was saved with food and medicine from Canada. Thelma Stewart was the hospital matron; Wiebe Brokens, the doctor; Wayne McCaughen, Paul; Pauline Stewart, little sister, and Mrs. McCaughen, mother.

Mrs. Stapley played "Jesus Loves Me" and Mrs. Packman closed this enjoyable meeting with prayer.

Ice cream and cake was served by Mrs. Elliott's committee and the W.M.A. executive.

Mrs. V. Richardson thanked all those who helped make such a successful meeting.

Master Gregory Orr, of Glen Miller, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Orr, did the honours as ring-bearer, natty in his white flannels and navy blazer and white boutonniere.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Orval Holden, of Belleville, and Mr. Donald M. Brady, of Stirling, brother of the bride. Mr. Ray Clarke, of Belleville, and Mr. Kenneth Orr, of Glen Miller, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, which was prettily adorned for the occasion with white and pink streamers, white wedding bells and seasonal flowers. The bride's mother, wearing a shrimp colored linen suit, with white accessories, and corsage of white feathered carnations tied with silver-edged white ribbon, received the many guests. The bridegroom's mother assisted, attired in crystalline printed silk, with white accessories, corsage of pink feathered carnations tied with white silver-edged ribbon.

For the wedding trip to the United States and Niagara Falls, the bride chose a powder blue suit with white and navy accessories and corsage of two-toned feathered pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Easton will reside in Stirling.

Guests were present from Belleville, Madoc, Oshawa, Cannifton, Batavia, Halloway, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Glen Miller.

Previous to her marriage the bride was honoured by two miscellaneous showers: one at Stirling with Miss Helen Irish as hostess, and the other at Belleville, R.R. 2, by Mrs. Orval Holden.

Her former co-workers at Stewart Warner, also presented her with household linens, and a wool blanket, all in yellow.

Former Tax Collector Given Six Months

Six months in the Ontario Reformatory was the sentence handed out Monday morning by Judge Gerald F. Smith to LeRoy Woods, former Sidney Township Tax Collector who last week was convicted by a Hastings County petit jury on a charge of stealing tax money.

Woods, 37-year-old wartime pilot with the RCAF, was convicted last Tuesday following a seven day trial. The Crown contended there was shortage of approximately $15,000 in Township money during the period of 1946 to 1951 in which Woods was tax collector.

In passing sentence Judge Smith said he was taking into consideration the jury's recommendation for leniency, also Mr. Woods' war record and the fact that he had no criminal record. He said frankly that he had liked Mr. Woods' demeanour and attitude in the witness box.

Sentence given was six months definite and six months indeterminate.

Bethel W.A.

On June 16th Bethel W.A. held their regular meeting at the church hall with a fair attendance. During the afternoon a quilt was quilted for Mrs. G. Thompson.

The President opened the worship period with the W.A. motto, theme song and hymn 501, followed by prayer. The Scripture Lesson was read by Mr. Fletcher from John 15. The Lesson Thoughts were given by Mrs. Don Heath.

A short business period followed. Two splendid reports from the W.A. Convention at Madoc were given by the delegates, Mrs. S. Hoover and Mrs. J. Mulheron. Rev. Fletcher closed the meeting with prayer.

A delicious lunch was served and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Easton -- Brady Nuptials At St. Paul's

Tall standards of pink peonies, snapdragons and white Shasta 'mums, interspersed with ferns formed a lovely background in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, on Saturday, June 4th at 2.30 p.m., when the minister of the church, the Rev. A. Packman, united in marriage Ruth Lurene Brady, of Stirling, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman T. Brady, of Stirling, to Norris Ingram Easton, of Belleville, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Easton.

Mrs. Bruce Glendinning, accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Harold West, both of Stirling, sang before the ceremony, "O Perfect Love," and during the singing of the register, "Because."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Sherman T. Brady, was radiant in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and bolero, having long, sheath-like sleeves pointed at the wrists. The full-length skirt of net and lace over satin was accented by a Chantilly lace peplum, pointed at the back. Her fingertip veil of embroidered tulle illusion was held by a Juliette head-dress encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Happiness roses and stephanotis tied with white lacy ribbon.

Mrs. Orval Holden, of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honour, wore an ankle-length gown of turquoise net and lace, featuring a lace bodice having a short-sleeved, matching bolero, and double-tiered skirt of nylon net over taffeta. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white Shasta 'mums and bronze, single 'mums, tied with yellow lacy ribbon.

The Misses Carolyn Rollins and Helen Irish, both of Stirling, were bridesmaids, attired in turquoise, ankle-length gowns, made on lines similar to that of the matron of honour. All the attendants wore matching head-dresses of turquoise, studded with sequins. The bridesmaids carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white Shasta 'mums and bronze single 'mums, tied with turquoise lacy ribbon.

The little five-year-old cousin of the bride, Miss Brenda McCrory, of Cannifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCrory, was sweet in her yellow nylon net frock over taffeta with head-dress of yellow Shasta 'mums, and carrying a tiny basket of Poincote Sweetheart roses, white and yellow Shasta 'mums, and mauve sweetpeas, with green feather-edged ribbon ties

(By Rev. A. Packman)

A very important meeting of the congregation will be held at St. Paul's after the service on Sunday morning. All members are urged to attend.

A speaker at our Day of Quinte Conference described the human situation in terms of (1) Disease; (2) Hunger; (3) Illiteracy.

It is now well known that some 60 percent of the world's population is hungry. In other words, there is not sufficient food in one hemisphere to bring the surpluses of food to the hungry in another hemisphere. It is equally well known that disease eats up the life of millions of people in far distances of the earth. A point the Christian must feel concern about when he hears that in the West we have a doctor for every few hundred of the population while in other parts of the world there is not a doctor per 100,000 and we at the same time talk and think in terms of the Kingdom of God. Some years ago, some will remember, we were told that education would see the end of evil in the world. Certainly there is much illiteracy, but we are able today to diagnose our plight in rather more exact terms. There is illiteracy, but what of the educated mind with the illiterate conscience?

A Montreal man lost his wallet; the next day he received the following letter: "Sir, I stole your money. Remorse is gnawing at me so I am sending some of it back to you. When it knows again I will send some more."

Long Live The Weeds

I thought of that when surveying what I had believed would be a carrot. Problem now is "find the carrot."

Long live the weeds that overwhelm

My narrow vegetable realm!

The bitter rock, the barren soil,

That force the son of man to toil.

And I remember also a wise man who said "the reason some people do not recognize an opportunity when it shows up is that it always goes around wearing a pair of overalls."

For in one of Tolstoy's novels a character says, "Busy as we are from birth tilling mother earth, we peasants have no time for nonsense to settle in our minds. Our only trouble is that there is not enough land. If we had plenty of land we would not fear the Devil himself."

Now you know why God made the weeds.

Camp

During the week-end I had the pleasure of visiting one of our Church Camps. For several years past I have visited a camp in the Park which operates for the benefit of overprivileged boys and girls. Providing the child's parents has $400.00 to spare, the boy may spend a couple of weeks there. The camps visited this week-end are unlike that, they are for underprivileged boys and girls and soon a whole army of them will be there tasting the sweets of a summer camp and costing them nothing, but costing you whatever you care to subscribe to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of your church. I came away with a song in my heart — lots of poor kids from the slums of our cities are going to see a bit of real

Christianity at work.

And Two Cheers

For The Birds

St. Francis started a proper racket.

After reading what he did and what he had to say, I have tried to make friends with the birds. Now I am wondering how far this sort of thing should go. One day last week I picked about a dozen strawberries from my birds but for pleasure, a bird came and helped herself (must have been a female) from the basket. However,

I am inclined to believe that this is as the Good Lord would have it, so I am still whistling.

The Open Mind

I am told that the human mind functions best when it is like a parachute — open.

It is doubtless good to have an open mind on some questions.

Some ministers are perpetually troubled with the problem of the disposal of time. I once suggested to a parishioner that the church could have my feet or my head, but not both.

You see, a Pastor could spend 12 hours a day, seven days a week, calling on the lost and unchurched, or he could spend the same hours calling at the homes of the members of the church and on the sick and the inactive. Or he might spend the time doing organizational work, at meetings and with groups. Then again, he might spend as much time in his study. I remember a minister who came before his people on Sunday morning and waving a sheet of paper said, "This is the sermon, it took me half an hour last night to prepare it." Later after it had been delivered a wise old man said to him, "I wonder it took you so long to prepare it!"

So, however you think your minister should spend his time, just pray for him, he is the only one among you who has no preacher.

Chatterton W.I. Topic "Food For Peace"

The June meeting of Chatterton Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ben Bleeker, with an attendance of 21 and six children. The subject was Agriculture and the convener was Mrs. Leonard Prest.

The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. Lorne Reide, in the chair. The roll call, "How to do Our Own Landscaping." The point was stressed that a green lawn not cut up by ornamental trees, and flower beds, always looked nice. The perennial border and green shrubbery up around the house made a pretty lawn and could be done by an amateur.

There were three thank you cards read and a letter from a little Greek refugee girl, that the branch had a share in helping her to get an education. The W.I. is always proud to hear from her.

The topic, "Manufacture and Shipping of Food is a Mighty Weapon for Peace," prepared by Mrs. Leonard Prest, was read by Mrs. Gerald Irvine. At the present time flare-ups are taking place in many of the Communist-dominated countries. In each of these the pattern is the same — innocent citizens being starved and reduced to slavery.

Farms and businesses are state controlled; Christianity suppressed, and churches closed. Brain-washing is the practice of the law courts and prisons. This is one reason why these countries are in such a low state physically and mentally. People are fearful as they recall the gas chambers and slave camps which often break up families.

The greatest factor in reducing a nation or an individual to bodily weakness is hunger, according to Mrs. Prest's paper. A starving people is a conquered people. The citizens of the countries have been in this state since world war II. If they saw adequate and permanent living ahead and were restored to health by food, they would regain the strength and confidence needed to protect themselves from their enemies.

Canada has never been scarred by a battleground. North America knows peace and prosperity, while suffering and disregard can be found on the other side of the Atlantic.

The paper continued by naming the need for standing armies in Canada and in Western Europe as being one of the main difficulties.

The red tape involved in shipping brings the transportation of necessary foods to a stand-still. The food supply cannot keep pace with the rapidly growing populations of the various countries.

Inadequate transportation results people are engaged in war itself and not enough are left to keep up the farms and industries. The existing farmlands and factories are therefore disorganized.

The talk was ended by describing sheer carelessness and inertia in the people at home as a main reason for the trouble.

As the Institute is making a study this year of surface and boundaries those were capably dealt with by Mrs. Charles Prest, Ontario is one of the most beautiful and prosperous districts in the British Empire.

The rolling land of fertile clay or sandy loam is, in the main, admirably adapted for farming and tilled farms are found everywhere.

The only surface feature of note is the Niagara escarpment which faces towards the north and east and is well marked throughout its length. It divides Southern Ontario into two plains. The Western plain is so productive, that it deserves its name, "The Garden of Ontario." Northern Ontario possesses one of the finest areas of virgin land in the world. This is the Great Clay Belt to south of James Bay.

It is a region of 16,000,000 acres of fine farming land, and when cleared of its heavy growth of timber and brought under cultivation, would easily support a population as large as the present population of the province.

A demonstration in summer desserts by Mrs. Bleeker, the hostess, were used for refreshments.

Former Principal Defends Sanctity of The Home

Charging that a number of forces, including Canadian socialism, were "raging with poison" against the Canadian home, Mr. Norman E. Stewart, a former Principal of Stirling Public School, told a recent meeting of the Progressive Conservative Women's Club of Edmonton.

Three agencies, Mr. Stewart said, have contributed above all others to the shaping of Canadian character and Canadian life. Of these, the home, the church and the school, Mr. Stewart said that if Canadians were forced to give up any two, the home would be the last that should be spared.

"Delegating duties that rightfully belong only to the home to other social agencies," Mr. Stewart said, "is a direct attack against the home."

Role of School

"If the school assents submissively, without bold counter-attack, the task of training the whole child, then the schools, though unwittingly, will share the gradual destruction of the home, which will mean the eventual crumbling of our civilization to dust."

The speaker concluded with a tribute to the ideals of the Progressive Conservative party, which, he said, can play an enormously important role in curbing forces seeking to undermine the home.

Toronto To Be Mecca For Rally Of Masons At Centennial Event

Monster Religious Service At C.N.E. Bandstand July 17th To Mark The Opening

Several thousand Freemasons from all parts of Ontario and Canada along with large delegates of Brothers from Great Britain and other Commonwealth countries as well as the United States will join in an historic and colourful centennial observance at the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds in Toronto on July 17th, 18th and 19th.

The occasion will mark the hundred anniversary of the founding of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons of Canada in the Province of Ontario.

J. P. Maher, of Toronto, Chairman of the Centennial Committee, spoke of the "wonderful co-operation" which the members of his committee were receiving from individuals and organizations alike in planning the forthcoming event. In this connection he referred, among others, to the management of the C.N.E. in making the facilities of the grounds and buildings available; to the railway and bus companies which are planning special trains and buses to take care of the large influx of visitors; and to the press, radio and T.V. "for their invaluable assistance."

The observance will commence with a monster rally for an impressive religious service at the C.N.E. grandstand on Sunday, July 17th, with sessions of the Grand Lodge, itself, opening on the morning of the 18th in the Coliseum and continuing for two days.

The event is one which not only focuses attention upon the history of Masonry in Ontario but on the tremendous growth of the order within the past hundred years. Mr. Maher pointed out that in 1855, when Canada's first Grand Lodge was organized, approximately forty lodges were represented at the meeting with a membership of 1,179 in good standing. At last year's session of the same Grand Lodge, reports revealed that there were 592 lodges with a membership of over 130,000.

While Freemasonry was established in Canada before 1792 it was in that year when the Athol Grand Lodge of England issued a warrant which authorized the formation of a Provincial Grand Lodge, William Jarvis, the secretary-treasurer of the newly-created colony in Upper Canada, was named Deputy Grand Master. This lodge functioned until 1817 when 26 lodges acknowledged allegiance to the Grand Lodge of England. At the same time, there were other lodges in both Upper and Lower Canada which gave allegiance to what is known as the Modern Grand Lodge in England as well as the Grand Lodge of Scotland and Ireland. Difficulties which arose over the years in conducting necessary business with the Grand Lodge in England resulted in a strictly Canadian Grand Lodge being organized.

It was in October, 1855, when representatives of the same forty lodges assembled in Hamilton in a building which still stands at the north-east corner of Main and John Streets. There, the Grand Lodge of Canada was brought into being with William Mercer Wilson, Norfolk County Judge, as the first Grand Master. The Lodge of Social and Military Virtues of Montreal, the oldest one represented, was given the first position on the new register. However, it changed its allegiance to the new Grand Lodge of Quebec when the latter was formed. The oldest lodge now remaining on the register of the Grand Lodge of Canada is Niagara No 2, Niagara-on-the-Lake, which was constituted in 1792.

Historical records show that three years after the formation of the Grand Lodge of Canada, other lodges in Ontario had remained under the jurisdiction of the Athol Grand Lodge of England and the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland decided to become identified with the new Grand Lodge of Canada. As a result 66 Athol (Ancients) lodges alone affiliated with the 63 Canadian lodges. In the case of two lodges, which had been warranted by the Grand Lodge of Ireland, an agreement was reached whereby they were permitted to continue conferring degrees under the Irish ritual, a practice which is still in effect.

With the passing of the years membership in the Masonic Order in other parts of Canada steadily increased and these members felt they should have their own grand lodges. This led to the formation of the Grand Lodge of Quebec followed by the Grand Lodge of Manitoba, but Ontario Masons retained the name of the Grand Lodge of Canada for sentimental reasons. However, out of respect for the feelings of their Brethren outside their jurisdiction, Ontario, while retaining the name the Grand Lodge of Canada, added the words "In the Province of Ontario."

MORE DONE IN AN HOUR WHEN IT'S DONE WITH POWER

What one man can do on the farm in work output has been increased many times by the developments in power farming equipment in recent years.

Tractors and implements now available give control over the work the year 'round and on more and more farms there is less and less need to employ hard-to-get and high-cost farm labour.

Mechanization has meant more to the farm than relief from drudgery and freedom from heavy burdensome physical toil. Mechanization has brought a new concept of farming and has given agriculture the greatest lift in years. And mechanization has contributed greatly to the more wide-spread sharing in higher standards of living.

In the advancement of their operations through mechanization farmers have found in Massey-Harris and Ferguson tractors and machines time and labour saving advantages that help them do their work easily, quickly and more profitably. Your local dealer will be glad to tell you about the latest developments.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Robson when friends and neighbours gathered to honour their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wardaugh (nee Barbara Robson), on their recent marriage. Mr. Roy Sills very capably acted as chairman. Barbara and Jack were given seats of honour and Ruth McMullen read an address to them, after which they were presented with a metal card table and four chairs, floor lamp and a wrought iron end table and tray combined.

Barbara thanked all for the gifts on behalf of herself and her husband. A few were called on for short speeches.
All sang "For they are jolly good fellows."

Lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed by all before departing for their homes. We wish Barbara and Jack every happiness.

Honoured On 35th Anniversary

On Tuesday evening, June 14th, a large number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Brownson, Spry Settlement, to congratulate them on their 35th wedding anniversary. The gathering was called to order and the following address was read by Mrs. Elias Spry.

Dear Pearl and Jim:
Your friends and neighbours of this community have gathered here this evening at your home to extend to you their best wishes on this happy occasion of your 35th wedding anniversary.

You, Jim, have been one of us all your life and have won our love and affection by your sunny disposition.

In the 35 years you have been here, Pearl, we have always found you willing to perform any task asked of you.

We appreciate the way you folks have opened your home for the church and Sunday school gatherings and your help as teachers. We wish you both joy and happiness in the coming years. If you ever find the way hard God has promised He will strengthen you. Whatever supreme joy we get from life we get from being sympathetic and thoughtful of others. After all, it is these things that make life worthwhile. We cannot bring back life and live it over again. As you two continue your journey together, through life's happy way, may a wealth of true blessings be waiting to increase your heart's cheer day by day.

And now we ask you to accept these gifts as a token of our friendship. As you use each one may it always remind you of the giver.

Signed on behalf of your many friends, neighbours and Sunday school workers, Arthur Bronson and Nathan Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. Brownson made suitable replies and thanked all for the lovely gifts and all joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

The evening was spent in singing and music, after which a delicious lunch was served.

National Summer Highway Safety

There was a time when the people living in rural areas used to complain about big city people driving out on a Sunday afternoon and picnicking on their country lanes.

Today, the complaint isn't so much about the picnickers as about the drivers who in their rush to get away from the heat of the city, hit for the open road right after work. Tired from a busy day in office or factory, they gather their families, load up the trunk and start off for lakeshore or mountains. They may not realize it, but they are among the greatest traffic hazards and are responsible for many of the 57,000 traffic accidents that occur on Canadian highways during the summer holidays.

There are, of course, many reasons for traffic accidents. Alfred L. Moseley, a psychologist at the Harvard School of Public Health, recently completed a series of tests on fatigued drivers and proved that every driver who is over-tired is risking his own and other people's lives when he takes the wheel. A co-operative colleague stayed up all night and then using an instrument called a Roadmeter, "drove" for several hours while the psychologist measured his reactions. Slowness on the brakes, clutching the wheel and other bad driving habits were noted as fatigue increased. A cup of coffee and a cigarette provided necessary but not lasting pickups.

This was an extreme case, of course, but it demonstrated the importance of avoiding drowsiness when driving and it led to a number of safe driving rules which could help to reduce the toll of summer accidents.

1. Don't start a trip right after work. Get a good night's rest and start fresh in the morning.

2. Plan a coffee break every 100 miles or so. If there are few roadside stands or restaurants, take a thermos of hot coffee with you. Pull off to the side of the road, drink the coffee and get out of the car to stretch your legs.

3. Avoid driving at night whenever possible. The most dangerous period is between 5 and 8 p.m.

4. If you feel drowsy, pull off the road and have a nap.

5. If possible, have another driver along to spell you at the wheel.

6. Observe all traffic — but, most important, stop driving when you feel tired.

North Hastings District W.I. Meeting Held In Wellman's Church

The 47th annual meeting of North Hastings District Women's Institutes was held in Wellman's United Church.

Mrs. C. Clancy, Wellman's, welcomed the guests, speakers, delegates and visitors.

Marmora Branch replied to the words of welcome. The president, Mrs. John Horsepool, Bancroft, greeted the various branches and also welcomed a new branch, "Harts and Higgs." This branch was organized this spring. In her remarks she mentioned the wonderful display of different arts which had been displayed at the rally day in Bancroft last fall, also reminded members of the Folk School which will be held at Snow Lake, August 4th to 8th.

Reports of Standing Committees showed how much interest was taken in the work of the Institutes. There were many different and interesting topics, roll calls and motes. Reports from branches were not 100 percent. One Junior Institute reported. The Resolutions report showed ideas for betterment of food and other activities.

Praises W.I. Work

Mrs. Ethel Hayes, representative from the Department of Women's Institutes Branch and Home Economics Service, Toronto, discussed the reports. She praised the work of the W.I., but stressed the need of Branch Conveners reporting and reporting early. She made special mention of one roll call, "Name one traffic rule," and suggested in view of the alarming increase of traffic fatalities that we not only name one traffic law, but make all the laws a study in our meetings.

She also mentioned the necessity of studying the resolutions before sending them so they will get to the right source. She stressed the duties of the district directors. There were 12 of the 14 present.

Greetings

Mrs. Hayes also brought greetings from Toronto and discussed Extension Services for home making. She said each branch however small, must think of themselves as a link in a large chain and as such have a very important responsibility. Branches must not campaign politics but law and betterment of our community and at all times try to be co-operative at all meetings. She explained Extension Courses fully.

Dinner was served in the hall by ladies of Wellmen's.

The afternoon meeting was opened by community singing led by Mrs. Fred Bailey, Cooper. A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Ernest Irvine. There was one deceased member in the past year, Mrs. Gay, of Ivanhoe. Mrs. Irvine read a beautiful poem and the hymn, "O Love that will not let me go," was sung.

Roll call of branches was answered by the presidents of same remarking on benefits of Extension Service.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker, Mrs. Burkett, representative of the Federal Board, gave her address next. She touched on the highlights of board meetings in Toronto, and also mentioned what would be brought before the board at their next meeting. She quoted Miss Chapman, suggesting that we set up friendship links in our own country. She also spoke on resolutions, which ones had been defeated and which ones sustained.

Miss Rorke, of the Kemptville Agricultural School spoke on the work at Kemptville and the Home Economics Course. Faudash branch gave a humorous skit which was enjoyed by all.

Miss Faye Irvine, Home Economist for Hastings County, gave a talk on 4-H Home Making Clubs.

Two duets, "Melody of Love" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep

You," were given by Mrs. W. Hulm and Mrs. Ken Nicol, of Madoc. Mrs. Fred Bailey was at the piano.

Mrs. Burton Morton, Wellman's, gave two humorous readings. Mrs. R. S. Beatty, Madoc, presented Wellman's branch with the prize for having the largest percentage of members present. Wellman's attendance was 100 percent. Mrs. Burkett conducted the election of officers. The slate of officers was presented by Mrs. Russell Empey as follows.

Past president, Mrs. John Horsepool, Bancroft; president, Mrs. Ken Nicol, Madoc; first vice-president, Mrs. Clayton Blackburn, Eldorado; second vice-president, Mrs. Ernest Irwin, Campbellford, R.R. 2; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Carl Linn, Bonarlaw; district delegate, Mrs. J. Horsepool, Bancroft, R.R. 3; Federal representative, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, Bonarlaw; alternate Federal representative, Mrs. Charles Stewart, Campbellford, R.R. 3.

Standing committees:

Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. Charles Gordanier, Bonarlaw; Citizenship and Education, Mrs. E. T. Naylor, Madoc; Community Activities and Public Relations, Mrs. Ken Bateman, Eldorado; Historical Research and Current Events, Mrs. William Woodcox, L'Amable; Home Economics and Health, Miss Jayne Gay, of Ivanhoe; Resolutions, Mrs. Myrtle McWhirter, of Fort Stewart; Junior Institute Activities, Miss R. ## Peterboro Co. Dairy Day Winners

Margaret Clark, of Norwood, and Don Irwin, of Peterborough, were named Dairy Maid and Dairy Man for 1955 at the Ontario Dairy Day held at the Kemptville Agricultural School on Thursday, June 16th.

The awards were presented by the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association to the outstanding boy and girl entered in the Junior Farmers' Quality Milk Production Competition, which comprised team entries from the various counties in Ontario.

Winners of the team entries were: Championship County Team, Margaret Clark and Don Irwin, representing Peterborough County; Second Place, Ron Werry, of Oshawa, and Ron Neale, of Whitby, representing Ontario County; Third Place, Irene Campbell, of Metcalfe, and Don Duncan, of Osgoode, representing Carleton County.

Final selection of candidates for Dairy Maid and Dairy Man and the winners of the Team Competition marked the end of a milk production competition which covered thousands of Junior Farmers throughout Ontario. The competition was sponsored by the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association to "further emphasize the importance of farm youth in the Ontario Dairy Industry."

Competition was open to one team of two Junior Farmer candidates each from Ontario Counties. Teams were required to answer a brief set of questions relating to quality milk production, following which the teams then demonstrated milking methods, care of the milk house and the proper cooling and storing of milk on a platform at Dairy Day.

In making the presentation to the winning candidates, H. A. Thurston, of Ottawa, immediate past-president of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association, told visitors to Dairy Day that the distributors sponsored the competition "as an incentive to create a stronger junior farmer interest in the care and production of better quality milk."

"The junior farmers who entered in this competition today," he added, "have done a truly outstanding job of demonstrating quality milk production. In fact, selecting winners was most difficult for the judges and they are to be commended for their work."

Judges were Aarden Baker, of Brockville; Leslie Collins, of Cobden; Peter Connan, of Gormley; Tom Dickson, of Eastview, and Dr. C. K. Johns, of Ottawa.

Five More Holidays

Canadians will celebrate five more statutory holidays this year—two on Fridays and three on Mondays.

July 1st, the anniversary of Confederation, falls on a Friday this year as does Remembrance Day, November 11th. Labour Day will be celebrated Monday, September 5th.

Thanksgiving Day is set by government proclamation, but for many years it has been celebrated on a Monday in October. Christmas falls on Sunday this year but is observed for business purposes on the following day.

None of these holidays are affected by the 1952 legislation which provided for Victoria Day to be celebrated on the first Monday preceding May 24th, government officials said.

If July 1st, New Year's Day or Christmas Day fall on Sunday they are observed on Monday, but Remembrance Day is never altered. Labour Day is always celebrated the first Monday in September.

The Queen's birthday, which actually occurs April 21st, is celebrated on a later date set by proclamation. It has usually been observed on a Monday and for the last two years has been timed to coincide with Victoria Day.

Be Careful With Fire When In Woods

F. H. Kortright, president of the Conservation Council of Ontario, gives a clean bill to members of sportsmen's organizations as being responsible for Ontario's forest fires.

"Nowadays," said Mr. Kortright in a statement to the Canadian Forestry Association, "the basic teaching of angling and fishing associations is that the woodlands are the nursery of good fishing and hunting. Game fish, for example, cannot thrive in waters bordered by fire-scarred trees and burned soil. They are poisoned by alkalis and driven out by rising temperatures. Furthermore, no angler stays long in a scenic environment of charcoal and stumps."

"My experience is that the average sportsman accustomed to the woods, and appreciating its beauty and value is not likely to take chances with unextinguished campfires and lighted tobacco. Every experienced woods traveller—every schoolboy, in fact—knows the elementary precautions with all forms of fire while travelling through or camping in easily-inflamable surroundings. We must face the fact, however, that as bush travel increases more and more raw amateurs are likely to take chances with their campfires and smokes, risking the dreadful consequences we have seen last month. No one should expect that patrolling fire rangers can guard a forest unless the public regards itself as the first line of defence. Whoever enters an Ontario woodland should consider himself a volunteer ranger, performing his duty as carefully as if he wore an official badge."

Weed of the Week

FIELD BINDWEED DEADLY TO CROPS

Field Bindweed is classified as a "prohibited noxious weed." Since there are only five weeds in Canada dangerous enough to be included in this classification, it is quite evident that Bindweed must be watched for and destroyed immediately any trace is found.

Field Bindweed spreads like a cancer, twining around and over all other plants, choking and smothering them to death. Seeds or root stock will produce new plants, with seeds germinating after being buried in the soil for as long as thirty years.

According to the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Field Bindweed can be controlled but it calls for a continuous attack. The top growth of twining slender stems, narrow shaped leaves and white or pink trumpet shaped blooms is killed by spraying 2,4-D at 3 to 1 ounces of 2,4-D acid per acre. New growth comes up from the roots, however, so the spray must be repeated until the roots also are killed. A black fallow, cultivated every 10 or 12 days for two growing seasons, will clean out most of even a severe infestation. A combination of cultivation and another crops will weaken it.

For small areas soil sterilants such as Sodium Chlorate at 6 lbs. per square rod; borax at 10 to 12 lbs. per acre; C.M.U. at 1 lb. in 3 gallons of water per square rod, or even common salt applied in killing quantities may be the quickest and most effective method of eradicating this weed.

Field Bindweed being a prohibited noxious weed, the purchase of graded seed is cheap insurance against introducing the weed to the farm in seed.

BARLEY IN POULTRY RATIONS

Cheaper poultry feeds could result from the use of barley in broiler and laying rations. Because of the high fibre and low energy content of barley, high energy broiler and laying rations contain little of this grain. It has, however, been used in limited amounts in poultry rations, especially in a scratch grain mixture fed to range stock or laying birds.

G. S. Simblad of the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Station,

Canada Department of Agriculture in Ottawa, reports that a study to investigate the possibilities of utilizing more barley in broiler and laying rations is currently in progress.

Results indicate that when barley is used in a "Mash Ration," at levels greater than 20 per cent, weight and feed efficiency were reduced. On the other hand rations containing up to 50 per cent barley feed in "Pellet Form" resulted in satisfactory weight gains, and feed efficiency was only slightly reduced as compared to regular high energy broiler rations. These results suggest a definite possibility of decreasing feed costs by using barley in broiler rations.

An experiment with laying hens fed "All-Mash" rations indicated that 50 per cent barley in the ration supported satisfactory egg production. The feed required per dozen eggs was not materially decreased as compared to a high energy laying ration containing wheat and corn.

HOUSE FLY CONTROL IN STABLES

The house fly is the most common fly in dairy barns. Control has proved very difficult on some farms, states S. B. Dixon, Department of Entomology and Zoology, Ontario Agricultural College, because in these cases strains have developed which are resistant to many present-day insecticides.

But sanitation is still the most important method of fly control, maintains the O.A.C. authority. All breeding places for flies should be destroyed. Since under ideal conditions flies may develop from egg to adult in only ten days, manure should, where farm operations permit, be hauled out weekly or oftener and spread on the land. Fresh manure should be hauled out first.

All manure piles should be tightly packed with clean-cut, almost vertical sides. The heat of fermentation will help to prevent flies from breeding inside the pile. It is not recommended that manure piles be sprayed with those insecticides to which house flies are resistant. However, manure piles may be treated with malathion or a borax spray consisting of one pound of borax in six gallons of water.

Milk houses should be screened, and also stables and pigsties, if practicable.

In all chemical control, great care should be taken to keep the insecticide from contaminating mangers, feed bins, water troughs, feed, or any other place that the cattle may lick. The insecticide should be applied as a coarse wetting spray to the walls and ceiling, about windows and doors, where the flies rest. All animals should be removed from the barn before such insecticides are applied.

Insecticides may be applied by a power sprayer under very low pressure or by a hand sprayer of the wheelbarrow, knapsack, or two to three gallon compressed air type. A large whitewash brush may be used if a sprayer is not available. In all cases the walls must be wet to the run-off point. One gallon of spray should cover 1,000 square feet. Fog or mist sprayers or aerosol types should not be used in dairy barns with DDT, lindane, methoxychlor, or malathion, warns the O.A.C. entomologist.

Detailed information on house fly control in stables, including the mixtures, methods, and equipment which may be used, is obtainable now at the office of the Agricultural Representative.

SOUTH AMERICAN CATTLE MEN PRAISE ONTARIO CATTLE BREEDERS

Canadian dairy cattlemen got a hearty Latin slap on the back recently when a group of South American cattlemen paid a visit to Ontario to pick up some breeding stock for their herds.

Dr. Jose Aristizabal, Minister of Agriculture for Columbia, had high praise for Ontario cattle, their breeders and the dairy products that go to the Canadian market.

Canada, he said, produced the best dairy cattle in the world, and that was the reason he and several of his countrymen were here to buy helpers and bulls.

Other members of the party commented on the good fortune of the Canadian consumer, who was able to obtain all the rich butter, milk and cream he might desire.

In Columbia, they said, such was not always the case, and in some parts of the country children were undernourished due to the lack of dairy products. So they were planning to ship Canadian cows to such areas in order that Columbian children in remote villages might be able to dip freely into a plate of golden butter and wash their meals down with glasses of milk.

Cream producing Ontario farmers, who heard of the compliments, took them with an appreciative smile. But they weren't surprised — they had known all the time that this province was about the best cream and butter producing spot in the world.

BACTERIA AND THE WATER SUPPLY

Few water supplies are free from bacteria, says Prof. E. H. Garrard, Head of the Department of Bacteriology, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. Ponds, lakes, streams, and wells contain microorganisms brought down from the air by rain, snow, and hail. Great numbers are added from the soil, while man, animals, and birds contribute others. Even the clearest and most sparkling water may contain bacteria harmful to health, says Prof. Garrard.

In areas where private wells are the only source of drinking water, quite often too little attention is paid to the type of well or the purity of the water it contains, warns Prof. Garrard. Consequently, many wells contain species of bacteria that render the water unfit for human consumption, a condition which can be avoided or remedied by the application of a few simple principles.

Wells should be located as far as possible from such polluting sources as cess pools, septic tanks, manure piles, chicken houses and barns. No one safe distance can be advocated because of the difference in soil structure. For instance, if the soil is clay, a distance of at least 75 to 100 feet from any polluting source should be sufficient, whereas in sandy and gravelly soils, a distance of at least 200 feet is necessary. The well should be situated on the highest point of land possible; when the surface of the water is at a higher level than any nearby polluting source, the water is safe from surface pollution. The well should not be located in a hollow, and drainage should be away from the well.

The poorly constructed well, lined with loosely placed stones, blocks, or bricks allows the entrance of heavily contaminated surface or underground water. Most good wells, on the other hand, points out Prof. Garrard, are lined with castings of iron or steel pipe, brick, concrete, or tile. The upper 10 to 12 feet of the walls of the well should be so constructed with one of these materials that water cannot enter the well until it has filtered down through 10 or 12 feet of soil. Such filtration frees the water of bacteria.

Good location and proper construction are wasted if little or no attention is paid to the top of the well, warns Prof. Garrard. Many excellent wells are spoiled by the tops being made of badly fitting boards or planks through which rain water, manure, filth, dirt and insects can enter. The top should be placed on walls that are finished above ground level and should preferably be built of some concrete with a suitable, tight manhole. It should slope towards the outside and the earth should be graded away from the curb in order to carry off waste water.

To determine if water is fit for human consumption, samples are tested for the presence of intestinal bacteria. If such organisms are detected in certain amounts of water, the water is reported to be polluted, and should be boiled or chlorinated. It must be kept in mind, however, warns the O.A.C. authority, that such treatment is only a temporary measure and steps should be taken to locate the source of pollution and prevent its recurrence.

Farm and school well waters are tested by the Department of Bacteriology, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, where sample bottles and directions for chlorination may be obtained.

FREEZING FOODS

Freezing is a quick, convenient and easy way of preserving foods. We cannot say it is new because our grandmothers used to freeze meat and pies and bread in their back kitchens or porches and for years the people of the north have used the great outdoors as their home freezer. It is much better today, however, because we do not have to wait until winter to freeze foods and there is no worry about the effects of a spring thaw either. With the use of modern locker plants and home freezers the summer-fresh flavour of frozen fruits and vegetables is retained from one season until the next. Even grandmother will agree that this is a much better arrangement than she had in the old days.

Since so many families now have a home freezer or locker the Home Economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture have sent along a few suggestions that may help you in planning your freezing programme.

What to freeze must be decided on the basis of the family's needs and desires, and on the space available for storing. Short-season foods like strawberries and peas are a good choice for year around use from the freezer and locker. It is a good idea to make up a tentative plan showing the approximate number of packages of each fruit and vegetable your family will consume in the year ahead. At the beginning of the season do not be tempted to freeze too much of any one food and then later on discover there is not enough space left for all the others you want to freeze.

Frozen fruits and vegetables with their fresh colour and flavour sealed right in them are almost as much of a treat on winter days as the fresh products are now.

Those vegetables which are usually eaten raw, such as celery, tomatoes, lettuce, cucumbers and radishes do not freeze satisfactorily. Whole kernel corn is generally better to freeze than corn on the cob as the latter sometimes develops off-flavours during storage. Most root vegetables and cabbage may be frozen but they keep well without freezing so why give them valuable space in the freezer.

Most of our Canadian fruits may be successfully frozen and some of them — currants, cranberries, gooseberries, blueberries and rhubarb — may be frozen without sugar. Other fruits are best frozen with sugar, either dry or in a syrup. Apricots and peaches require special treatment such as the addition of ascorbic acid to prevent discoloration. Pears do not freeze well because the texture changes during freezing and they are soft and mushy when thawed.

Perhaps you have wondered why vegetables have to be blanched before freezing. The Home Economists of the Consumer Section tell us that all fresh vegetables and fruit contain chemical substances called enzymes which, if left uncontrolled, will cause unfavourable changes in the flavour, colour and texture of the product even if it is frozen. To kill the enzymes in vegetables we blanch them and this preserves their fresh characteristics.

To retard the action of enzymes in fruits we generally use sugar.

A good point to remember is that the frozen foods that are taken out of a locker will do no better than the fresh foods that are put into it. So it is important to use only the highest quality fruits and vegetables for freezing and to freeze them as soon as possible after they are picked.

CONSERVATION NEWS!

Forest Protection

No fires were reported in the Tweed District during the past week and it is hoped this situation will continue for a short while longer. Fire danger conditions were generally low to medium throughout the District.

The ranging staff has been busy this week on maintenance, equipment repair, clearing trails, inspection jobs and several improvement projects will be under way shortly.

Forestry Trips At The Moira Authority Property In Sidney Township

Fifteen public schools from Sidney and Thurlow Townships participated in Forestry field trips during the last week in May. Some 222 pupils, plus teachers and volunteer drivers spent a half day getting first hand information and reforestation problems.

The outing was arranged by Mr. R. H. Macklem, Public School Inspector, and the Moira River Conservation Authority, with the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

The site of the tour was a lot in Sidney Township, which was purchased two years ago by the Moira River Conservation Authority. Arriving at the site, the schools were divided into two groups of approximately 30 pupils on each of the 4 half days.

These groups followed bush trails under the direction of Mr. Stewart or Mr. Edwards, who pointed out various species of trees and illustrated features of woodlot management. Several tree diseases were also observed.

At the north end of the route, each group planted 8 to 10 trees per pupil. A total of 2,000 trees were planted.

The pupils and teachers taking part expressed their appreciation for the opportunity of receiving instruction in this form.

Fish and Wildlife

Further news is in the headlines this week regarding the Ouananiche, a close relative of the Atlantic Salmon, so much so that it is difficult to distinguish any differences. Very few anglers have tried their luck in catching the Ouananiche in this district, however one ardent fisherman has landed his daily quota of one per day each time that he has visited Shabomoka Lake, Barrie Township.

The Ouananiche were introduced to this body of water in 1952. Since that time none have been recorded as being caught until May of this year.

Ouananiche eggs were brought from Lake St. John in Quebec and hatched in one of the Southern Hatcheries. The young Ouananiche were then introduced into several lakes in Northern Ontario including Trout Lake at North Bay in 1935. In recent years, considerable Ouananiche have been taken from Trout Lake by anglers and spawn was taken from Trout Lake in 1949. It was from this Trout Lake stock of Ouananiche that the planting in Shabomoka Lake originated.

It is possible that these Ouananiche will spawn this coming autumn in Shabomoka Lake.

If spawning occurs on suitable grounds, it is possible that we will have established the Ouananiche in the second lake in the Province of Ontario.

The Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed require information from anglers when one of these fish are caught, so that we can record their progress.

For a century and a half a treasure supposedly buried by Captain Kidd has been sought on Nova Scotia's Oak Island.

Leading outdoors authority King Whyte writes—

"Something for Everyone"
"It has been my good fortune to have fished and hunted from British Columbia to Newfoundland—from the far north to the Gulf of California and central Mexico. Nowhere have I had it better than right here in our own Province of Ontario. Outdoor Ontario has something for everyone."

Easiest, Cheapest Way to WEED CORN HERBATE 2,4-D

Saves work... Cuts costs

For only 35 cents' worth of HERBATE 2,4-D you can clear out the weeds in an acre of corn. HERBATE 2,4-D saves you time and money... helps you get bigger and more profitable yields.

HERBATE 2,4-D, applied at recommended stage of growth, kills most broad-leaved weeds with no risk of crop damage. It kills sensitive weeds outright and controls more resistant ones.

C-I-L MCP Sodium is especially recommended for weed-kill in peas and other sensitive crops, including corn and also grain crops seeded to legumes (except sweet clover).

HERBATE Amino 80 works more slowly than Estar... is safer near 2,4-D susceptible crops. Especially suited to weed control in cereal nurse crops.

HERBATE Estar 64 is highly effective for control of 2,4-D susceptible species of brush as well as weeds.

Entered Into Rest

CHARLES H. JEFFREY

Charles H. Jeffrey, a prominent resident of Tweed for the past 23 years, died suddenly at his home on Catherine St., Tweed, Friday afternoon, June 17th. He was in his 76th year.

The deceased was born in Rawdon Township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffrey and lived in Rawdon Township before moving to Tweed 23 years ago. He was a farmer and was in retirement at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Tanner; two daughters, Mrs. Douglas (Effie) Stapley, of Campbellford; Mrs. Graham (Marguerite) Mouck, of Tweed; two sons, Clarence, of Napanee; Kenneth, of Tweed; one brother, Walter Jeffrey, of Belleville, and one sister, Mrs. John B. Hagerman, of Rawdon Township.

The deceased was a member of the Anglican Church, a life member of L.O.L. No. 392, and a charter member of Tanner's L.O.L.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, June 20th, from his late residence to St. James' Anglican Church, Tweed.

Interment took place at St. Thomas' Cemetery, Rawdon, under auspices of L.O.L. No. 392.

Munro — Donnan Nuptials

Tall standards of pink and white peonies and white Shasta 'mums along with an evergreen arch studded with pink and yellow roses formed a lovely background at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Donnan, Stirling, on Saturday, June 11th at 2 o'clock, when Rev. A. Packman united in marriage their daughter, Ruth Emma, to Allan Storie Munro, of Stirling, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Munro.

Miss Barbara Melkejohn, Marmora, Ont., accompanied by the pianist, Miss Betty McConnell, Mount Pleasant, sang before the ceremony "O Promise Me" and during the signing of the register "The Prayer Given."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice and bolero having long, sheath-like sleeves pointed at the wrists. The ankle-length skirt of net and lace over satin was accented by inserts of Chantilly lace. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, bordered with Chantilly lace was held by a mohair headress encrusted with crystal sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses and stephanotis tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Norma Donnan, Stirling, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore an ankle-length gown of pale blue nylon net, featuring an embroidered bodice, having a short-sleeved matching bolero and elbow-length mitts. The skirt of nylon net over taffeta was accented by several tiers of scalloped embroidered net. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations and stephanotis tied with pink net and white lace ribbon.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Maurice Montgomery, Stirling. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's residence. The rooms were tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers, white wedding bells and red and white peonies.

The bride's mother, wearing a dusky rose gown with navy and white accessories, and corsage of white and pink carnations, received the guests, assisted by the groom's mother, attired in powder blue figured nylon, white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

For travelling to the United States and points west the bride chose a light blue flowered taffeta dress with navy bolero, white accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro will reside in Stirling. Guests were present from Peterborough, Smiths Falls, Madoc, Marmora, Belleville and Stirling.

Since 1949 the gross public debt of the federal government has increased from $16.9 billion to $17.9 billion.

Flouridation Pamphlets Available To Public

In view of the importance of the movement for fluoridating communal water supplies, and the attendant controversy over the question, the Health League of Canada, feeling that it is vitally important that more information be made available to the public, has prepared two pamphlets on fluoridation.

The first of these, THE PICTURE OF FLUORIDATION, gives many facts and figures about fluoridation — what fluorine is, the method of fluoridating water supplies, some historical background upon many aspects of fluoridation, and the benefits to be derived therefrom. All facts are from authoritative sources, and should answer many questions about fluoridation.

The second pamphlet, FLUORIDATION FACTS AND FANCIES, gives answers to misleading statements about fluoridation made by ill-informed groups, with more data about fluoridation.

Both of these pamphlets will be of invaluable aid to groups and individuals in communities where the fluoridation question has become an issue. They are now available in quantity and singly. The pamphlets are offered for sale at five cents apiece, or at cost in bulk orders.

All inquiries should be addressed to The Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, Ontario.

There are times when "Holding Fast" marks the difference between success or failure, stated Rev. Walker. "Modern civilization is so complicated that the business of living is causing much frustration and wavering. Our hold of God may weaken, but God's hold of us is unchanging and eternal."

"Hold Fast to the Profession of your Faith without wavering" by witnessing to the Priesthood of Believers the all sufficiency of the Holy Scriptures, and justification by faith." In closing Rev. Walker called on his listeners to prove worthy of their Christian heritage and carry on with malice to none and with charity to all.

The flowers which adorned the altar included a basket placed on the Communion Table in memory of Louis Rodgers by the family.

Mrs. Tom Hinds was chairman for the afternoon and community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Fred Beckett as pianist. Miss Emma Rainnie read an address and Mrs. Clifford Clancy made the presentation of a hammered aluminum sandwich tray.

Mrs. Philp replied and in accepting the gift told those present the lovely tray would always be cherished. She also invited everyone to visit her again.

A delicious lunch was provided and served by the members.

ST. PAUL'S CHOIR HONOURS MEMBER

On Thursday evening after the regular practice of St. Paul's United Church Senior Choir, the members were invited to the Sunday School rooms where a social hour was spent in honour of Mrs. Harry Philp, who was recently married.

A delicious lunch of strawberries, cake and ice cream was served.

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. H. PHILP

On Friday evening the River Valley folk and the nearby neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Philp on the occasion of their recent marriage.

Mr. George Carlisle was master of ceremonies and spoke briefly. Miss Cheryl Utman sang and Mrs. S. McIntosh read a selection. Mrs. Percy MacMullen recited two numbers. Messrs. Ed. Heasman, Fred McDonnell and Dr. Packman spoke briefly.

Mr. Glenn Bush read an address on behalf of the charivari gang and a smoker with chrome finish was presented.

GOOD TIME

The important man was about ready to begin his speech when a news photographer was observed jockeying for a vantage point to get an action picture. The chairman, fearing that the speaker would be annoyed, called the photo man and said, "Don't take his picture while he is speaking. Shoot him before he starts."

In addition to the federal government's National Film Board there are more than thirty private companies making motion pictures in Canada.

Spry Settlement S.S. Picnic

The Spry Settlement Sunday School held their annual picnic on Saturday, June 25th at Crystal Beach, Madoc. The ladies prepared a well laden table with plenty of good things to eat, including a chicken dinner with all the trimmings. About 1 p.m. the Sunday School workers, friends and neighbours, numbering about 80, sat down to dinner after Grace had been sung, led by Rev. and Mrs. Smith, of Belleville.

Following the dinner games, racing, tie racing, three-legged races and swimming were enjoyed. Mrs. Elias Spry won the prize for the oldest lady present. Other prizes were also given.

Before leaving for home ice cream was served to each one present.

Visitors were present from Belleville, Madoc and Peterborough.

Highways Minister Appeals For Safe Holiday Driving

Warning that July 1st to 4th could be, but need not be, one of the year's worst periods for accidents, Highways Minister Jas. N. Allan appealed recently for a special safety effort by everyone.

"The week-end ahead of us has special features which make it very important that all motorists and pedestrians keep safety foremost in their minds."

"Extremely heavy traffic is likely. With Dominion Day in Canada on Friday and Independence Day in the United States on Monday, hundreds of thousands of week-end holidaymakers will be on the move. The long summer holiday has begun for nearly a million school children in the provinces and they will be outside more and more exposed to street and road accident dangers. The week-end also ushers in 'summer vacation' time and Ontario people and visitors will be travelling to summer places in cars crowded with passengers and belongings."

"All these conditions point to an urgent need for more attention to safe and sensible driving and walking by everybody."

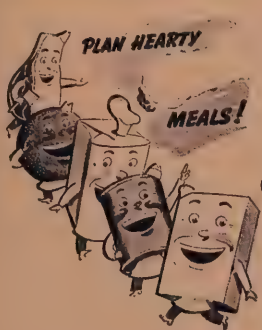

Mr. Allan points out that July was Ontario's highest travel month in 1954, with motor vehicles travelling an estimated 50 million miles a day.

July was the second worst month of the year for fatal traffic accidents with 115 persons killed, compared with 123 in July of 1953.

"This was a small improvement," he states, "but it is still a shocking loss of life and is surely evidence that everyone who walks or drives must be more safety conscious all of the time."

In preparation for Ontario's summer time struggle to keep down traffic accidents, provincial and municipal police are making extra safety efforts. Local safety programs are in operation in many cities and towns. Over half a million carry-home safety pieces were distributed by the Department of Highways to junior pupils before school closing to help remind them to be safe on their holidays. Safety messages are being kept before the people of the province.

"The secret of safety and accident prevention is, however, in the head and hands of the individual," Mr. Allan stresses. "I urge everybody to keep the possibility of a road accident in mind and to obey the rules of the road which are for everybody's good."

Not only for the minister but also for every business man and every worker. Each of us should try to get away into new surroundings and among strange people if possible — the bush is an ideal place to freshen up, the lakes makes a good companion — relax.

There are still those, I imagine, who think of Heaven in terms of the beyond — but why postpone going to Heaven. Our Lord brought it very near and invited men to enter. Likewise of those who say — "By the time I am 60 or 65 or so, I will be able to take a holiday." Don't fall into that trap, it seldom happens and by the time you are 65 you have lost the capacity to enjoy what you should be enjoying at 45. Take a holiday! You can't afford to be always in the ring.

But that does not mean a holiday from Church, you can't afford that either. There are holiday virtues, there are holiday vices. Avoid them. Dignity

There is a dignity to be preserved even in pleasure.

By The Lake

The Carmel Young Married Couples took to the lake on Friday last — it was a joy to be there. As we stood in the light of the camp fire we sang "The Church's one foundation is Jesus Christ Her Lord" and there was a feeling of something Holy in the air. Then as we said a prayer, we remembered our Lord taking His followers to the lake side and there was a sense of communion with God.

From there we attended a "shower." We sang, and rightly — "Bless be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love." We might well say "Ties." The ties of fellowship and friendship are very much to be cherished and were evidenced at this social hour.

Building For Christ

By an overwhelming vote the members and adherents of St. Paul's accepted and agreed to a plan introduced by the Official Board to extend the Church building north by 24 feet in depth and 40 feet in width. The meeting followed the morning service and Holy Communion. Mr. George Carlisle spoke on behalf of the Sunday School's need and Dr. Cornett, Chairman of Stewards, outlined the plan.

It now will be necessary for the Official Board to meet again to set up the machinery for the carrying out of the scheme.

The meeting will be held on Monday, July 4th at 8.30 p.m. at the Church. All members of the Board are asked to make this an obligatory meeting.

Transferred Members

On Sunday, June 26th, at Holy Communion the following members from other Churches were received:

Mrs. Robert Hatton, Miss Beverly Wallace, Mrs. Lee Floud and Mr. Lee Floud.

The Parsonage

The work done on the Parsonage by the Stewards and ladies of the W.A. has proved a great blessing and is much appreciated. The heating system about which we are so often asked is as near perfect as these modern blessings can be. We have a Church House of which St. Paul's may be justly proud. To the good work done by those above mentioned has been added from time to time: A standard lamp given by Mrs. W. Cornett; a table lamp by Mrs. Guy Bradshaw; table from Mrs. White and another by Mrs. Jeffrey; a carpet by Mrs. H. C. Martin.

Files

I noticed an ingenious thing today in town. Seeing a largish hole in the wire screen of a store, I asked why it was not repaired. The answer I received knocked me for six — "It's to let the flies out," said my friend.

By this you will see how dangerous it is to judge by appearances.

What's the use of seeing ourselves as others see us — we don't believe our eyes anyway.

The Rent Veil

I have sometimes been asked the meaning of the rent veil, an event which St. Matthew records as attending the Crucifixion. The answer is — St. Matthew is the one writer of a Gospel who made great use of symbol, and portent — the Jewish religion was something like a stage play, you saw the play, but you did not catch sight of the author. This in turn means that the High Priest and only the High Priest could, once a year enter the Holy of Holies. Now that the veil is rent, all men may enter. God's presence is available to all men, thus all men become as Christians, members of the Priesthood of all Believers.

God has in many a age been the captive of religious systems and has had to be set free from Fraud and Fear and Force. The rent veil means not only that man now go in but also that God may come out.

Hence, whenever you meet with a religious system that is in effect a "Closed Shop," you will know that it is not New Testament religion.

Great Masonic Event To Open With Service At Exhibition Grounds

Centennial of Grand Lodge
In Ontario To Bring Thousands of Visitors To Toronto

Masons and their families from all parts of Ontario and Canada as well as visiting delegations of Brethren from other countries will convene in Toronto on Sunday, July 17th, for a monster religious service at the C.N.E. Grandstand.

This service will mark the opening of the Centennial Observance of the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons in the Province of Ontario. Sessions of the Grand Lodge itself, which will continue for two days, will commence the following morning in the Coliseum at the Exhibition Grounds.

While thousands of visitors will come by car, many will take advantage of the special trains and buses which are being planned to take care of the influx. It is expected that the attendance at the service will be one of the largest in the history of the Grandstand.

J. P. Maher, Chairman of the Centennial Committee, announced that the service would be conducted by The Most Rev. W. L. Wright, Archbishop of Algoma, while Rev. W. Harold Young, of Toronto, will preach the sermon and Rev. H. G. Cleghorn will read the lessons.

In attendance at the service will be a choir of over 300 voices under the direction of Dr. Charles Peaker of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Toronto.

The importance of this event in the annals of Masonry is reflected by the fact that the visiting delegations will include widely-known dignitaries from the three Grand Lodges of the British Isles and from Grand Lodges of other Commonwealth countries, including Australia, while Grand Lodges of most of the States in the United States will be represented.

When discussing this historic observance, Mr. Maher said that a hundred years ago — in October 1855 — representatives of some forty lodges gathered in a Hamilton building which still stands at the north-east corner of Main and John Streets. At that meeting the Grand Lodge of Canada was formed with William Mercer Wilson, Norfolk County judge, being named the first Grand Master. The lodges represented on that occasion had a total membership in good standing of 1,179. At last year's session of the same Grand Lodge, reports showed that there were 592 lodges with a membership of over 130,000.

While Grand Lodges were formed in other provinces as membership in the Masonic Order increased, the first Grand Lodge, organized in Ontario in 1855, still retains the name of "Grand Lodge A.F. & A.M. of Canada" for sentimental reasons. However, the words "In the Province of Ontario" were added to the official name out of respect for Brethren who are outside the jurisdiction of the Ontario lodge.

Fairview United Church situated at the first United Church to be built in the Brantford district since Church Union. The total cost of the site, building, furnishings and organ was $31,100,000, and the pews have yet to be installed. The voluntary labour was estimated at 3,100 hours. One of hundred persons. It is of cement

Springbrook school children and their mothers enjoyed a picnic at Glen Allan Park on Monday. The day was ideal for the occasion and about 69 partook of the picnic dinner. Following the dinner Rev. Beare called the gathering to order and Edmund Fleming read an address to Mr. Wagg who resigned his position here to be accepted on the teaching staff at Oshawa. Gary Mason made the presentation of a Schaeffer pen and pencil on behalf of the pupils. Mr. Wagg replied stating that he had enjoyed his stay here and would always remember Springbrook as his first school. Swim-

Tendered Shower

About twenty-six young ladies of the community gathered at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Mason on Friday evening and tendered Lois a miscellaneous shower in honour of her forthcoming marriage.

The evening was spent in games and contests and Lois was invited to be seated in the bride's chair decorated suitably for the occasion with balloons containing confetti hanging above.

An address was read by Rosemary Webb and Lois was presented with many very lovely and useful articles for her new home.

In a few well-chosen words Lois voiced her sincere thanks to her many friends. A delicious lunch was served by Eleanor Graham, Vera Bailey, Marilyn Bateman, Mary Reid and Lynn Mason.

The following is a copy of the address which was written by Mrs. H.
E. Beare.

Dear Lois:

We, your friends have gathered to honour you and to wish you a long and happy wedded life. You are starting a new home. Our sincere desire is that God will be your guide in the building of another of the happy Christian homes that mean so much to this land of ours.

A red geranium or two to keep the corners gay;

A little patch of grass to trim, a pair of maple trees;

A path that leads up to the door,
A home is made of these.

Some windows for the sun to find,
And curtains white and neat,

Good neighbours to the right and left
And just across the street.

A kettle singing on the stove,
A couch that's built for ease;

A dog that wags his tail at you
A home is made of these.

The smell of cookies baking,
Or of onions in the stew,

And free to go around and shout
As you would like to do.

Of course there will be times,
Of trouble and disease,

And times of song and laughter for Every home is made of these.

Signed, your girl friends.

you can

Garden Party

Very Successful

On Thursday evening the teacher and pupils of the 9th Line School (School Section No. 12) held a very successful Garden Party at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Murray Meiklejohn. The grounds were well filled and were nicely decorated by the Meiklejohn family, some of the men of the neighbourhood and the senior pupils.

In the early part of the evening a ball game was played between the two neighbouring teams, Pethericks Corners and Rylstone, resulting in a victory for the home team. A tug-of-war between Seymour and Rawdon teams showed the "Rawdon Dodgers" to be the stronger on this occasion at least. A clown dressed as a tattered gentleman amused the crowd with his antics during the evening. Music was supplied by a record player with a public address system. A fish pond was well patronized, as was the ice cream and lunch tables.

A bonfire later in the evening added to the beauty of the scene already lighted by the moon, with electric lights hung on wires assisting.

CONSERVATION NEWS!

Forest Protection

Campers and fishermen are now using the woods in large numbers and they are asked to do their share to guard against forest fires. Before leaving a camp site care should be taken to assure that your campfire is really out, this is most important as many a black looking campfire has returned to life to destroy forest areas.

In addition to the dangerous campfire, Department Officials point out that cigarettes, cigars, pipe heels, pipe ashes and burning matches are deadly enemies of the forest and they should be constantly bore in mind. The remedy for forest fire problems is very simple, it is the use of common sense by those who travel in the woods.

The European Pine Shoot Moth

Among the many foreign insects that have been accidentally introduced in this country and become established is the European Pine Shoot Moth (Rhyacionia buoliana).

Like most other insects which are not native to this country it is not long before their numbers increase to epidemic proportions due to the freedom they enjoy from their natural enemies such as other insects, birds, disease, etc., which effectively keep them under control in their native country.

The European Pine Shoot Moth was first discovered in Ontario in 1925 on nursery stock imported from Holland. Today it is found in pine plantations in southwestern Ontario west to Lake Simcoe, and south along the north shore of Lake Ontario, east to Brockville. Although the shoot moth will attack all species of pine grown in eastern Canada, the 2-needle pines are preferred hosts.

The common hosts in Ontario are Red Pine, Jack Pine, White Pine, Pitch Pine, Mugho Pine and Austrian Pine.

The adult moth is rusty orange in colour marked with irregular bands of silver. The hind wings are plain dark brown. It has a wing span of approximately 19 mm. The moths emerge from the middle of June to about the end of July, but this may vary depending on the locality. Eggs are laid on the needle sheath of new growth and hatch into larvae in about 10 to 12 days. The grub-like larvae vary in colour from a light yellowish-brown to a dark reddish-brown depending on the instar. The mature larvae attain a length of approximately 15 mm.

The larvae mine the needles close to bud clusters and later feed on the buds themselves. They overwinter in the buds and the mature larvae resume feeding on new shoots the following spring. The life cycle is completed when pupation takes place early in June and the adult emerges two weeks later.

The injury to the host trees results from the larvae feeding within the buds and shoots.

An early infestation is indicated by a characteristic yellowing and later browning of the mined and chewed needles. Later bud injury is recognized and die, others are only injured on one side and as the season advances again turn upward to form the so-called "bayonet tip" or "post-horn".

Advanced injury to the tree, producing a malformation known as "witch's broom."

Importance of Child Safety

"All the care on earth cannot equal one child's worth." In these words Lieut.-Col. Walter Reynolds, General Manager of the Ontario Safety League recently stressed the importance of child safety as he urged the citizens of this province to do everything possible to safeguard children in traffic.

Lieut.-Col. Reynolds was speaking in connection with the child pedestrian and bicycle safety programme being sponsored by the League in every section of the Province.

"All of us have a moral responsibility to keep children safe," he said, "and traffic is so potent a danger to youngsters that it will take all of us to do the job. Traffic is the number one killer of children one to fourteen years old in this country."

"According to our statistics, which make pretty cold reading, traffic accidents cause more deaths to youngsters in this age group than any of the well-known diseases such as polio, tuberculosis, pneumonia, cancer and rheumatic fever," he said.

Lieut.-Col. Reynolds named four groups as having specific jobs to do in the field of child traffic safety — motorists, parents, schools and children themselves.

"Our Ontario schools are doing a fine job of teaching children safety," he said, "and youngsters do try to follow the safety rules they learn. But children don't have mature judgment, and their attention wanders — at such times their actions are unpredictable."

Holiday Planning

Summer is here again and most of us are looking forward to a vacation. Unfortunately, every holiday season is marred by an ever increasing toll of accidental deaths. Even a cursory glance at a newspaper is sufficient to make people realize that holidays and violent death often go hand in hand. The perils of the summer resort and of travel, particularly on the highway, are such that few neglect to see that their insurance is in order, and that the family automobile is in good mechanical condition. Many, however, neglect to make a Will and others retain one which is outmoded by ever changing circumstances, thereby exposing their families to the risk of unfair estate distribution, of unnecessary taxes and other problems which can and do arise in the event of death. It will add to the enjoyment of holidays to know that a Will has been made, planned to meet the particular circumstances, with all contingencies dealt with according to the best advice available.

Does the Will contain proper provisions to cover the possibility of the testator and his wife dying in the same accident? Has a suitable guardian for the children been selected? Would the estate be handled in a manner that would ensure the greatest benefits for the family? All this, too, should be part of holiday planning.

We do not pretend that a well planned Will is an assurance of a happy holiday, but the joys of a vacation may be increased by the knowledge that a Will has been made which will result in a minimum of problems to those for whom protection is desired.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

WHY GUNS IN BANKS?

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

All banks have a private arsenal of guns, as a general rule, kept loaded within easy reach of the tellers and senior officials. Managers say they have given orders for the tellers and other employees not to shoot. The money is insured and in any case is not worth a life. The question arises, then, why the employees have a gun within reach. Why are chartered banks allowed to take the law into their own hands as no other business is? Some principles should be laid down from head officers. If the employees are not to shoot, then they should not have revolvers to hand. If they are to shoot, then let them be trained so that they can hit the man who is causing the trouble and not innocent bystanders. However, the safest and best course is for banks to depend upon the regular law enforcement officers.

IMPRESSING CUSTOMERS

Depressing to barbershop customers is the suggestion of Mr. Ernest Herbert, president of CIO Barbers and Beauty Culturists of America, that barbers should abandon chit-chat about the weather, sport and politics and devote their conventional efforts instead to impressing customers with official union views on wages and working conditions. Any barber worth his salt, Mr. Herbert told a union convention in Atlantic City recently, should regard recumbent customers with lathered faces and a razor at their throats as in a uniquely receptive mood to absorb arguments in favour of the Guaranteed Annual Wage and other of Big Labor's aims.

Barbers who follow Mr. Herbert's advice, and chances are that they will be few, should have no trouble in recognizing why they have no customers. —The Letter-Review.

SEASON OF RIDDLES

(Peterborough Examiner)

It is interesting that the enthusiasm for riddles which lay dormant for so many years, seems to be rekindled.

Children love riddles, and they are not in the least interested in guessing the answer; what they like is to ask the questions. Recently a young friend greeted us at breakfast with this one: "Who do the mermaids flirt with?" When we had puzzled for a time, and obligingly given it up, we were told the answer — "With the swells of the ocean."

This riddle must be at least fifty years old, because "swells" is definitely Boer War slang. But good riddles never die; they just go underground.

SKILLS IN OLDEN TIME

(Printed Word)

Nearly every man is sure he is a better man than his father was. Look at the difference in pay, if proof is needed.

Actually there is plenty of evidence that a linotype operator of 1910 could set as much type and with as few errors as the best operator today. In fact, a galley without errors was a rarity 40 or 50 years ago, but would be a miracle today.

The chauffeur of a 10-ton truck can handle more goods, and faster, than could the driver of a four-horse dray. But is the truck driver any more skillful than the teamster of old?

It's a sobering thought, that posterity isn't any better than ancestry. It should be remembered — but never used in arguments for more pay.

New Industries Quite A Prize

It is quite a prize when a town gets a new manufacturing industry or when one already established branches out, comments the Financial Post. Immediately there follows a chain reaction which brings growth and purchasing power far beyond the direct benefit of the wages added to the local payroll.

Here is what will follow when 100 new employees in manufacturing have been added to the working force of a typical Ontario industrial town:

Industrial output will increase by almost a million dollars a year, industrial purchasing by almost half a million. Nearly three millions will be added to municipal taxable assessment, $100,000 more annually paid in corporation taxes, and $670,000 in personal taxes. Three new retail outlets will open in the town and total retail business will be up $400,000. Finally, there will be added 369 new cars, 135 additional jobs and 163 new households.

No wonder, comments The Post, there is such a scramble among municipalities for new industry.

Who Pays Taxes?

The taxpayer who has the most right to speak up is the person with an income of between $3,000 and $5,000 a year. As there are so many of him he pays most of the taxes. People in the higher income brackets are so few that, despite the progressively steep rate of taxation, their contribution to the Federal revenue is but a tiny fraction of the whole.

It is the smaller incomes that pay most of the cost of family allowances. It is from the smaller incomes that most of the $40 a month old age pensions are drawn off for all Canadians of 70 or over regardless of need.

River Valley W.M.A. Met At Mrs. S. Irven's

The River Valley Woman's Missionary Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Stanley Irven on June 21st with 10 members and 4 visitors present.

The President, Mrs. Ernest Carr, opened the meeting by reading a poem "He that abideth." The hymn, "More love to Thee" was sung, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The various secretaries reports were given and business dealt with. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Finkle with Miss Adeline Bush and Mrs. Don Donohoe in charge of the programme.

The theme for the worship service was "Sharing Our Bread." The church can cause Christ to walk again in the streets and along the country roads by sharing with those who lack. The hymn, "O God our help in ages past," was sung, followed by the Scripture Lesson by Mrs. John Kane. A reading "June," was given by Mrs. Glenn Bush. Miss Grace Heasman rendered a piano solo, "Sonata," by Mozart. Mrs. Ross Bush gave a reading, "Figure it out for yourself."

Mrs. W. T. Elliott

Guest Speaker
The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. W. T. Elliott. Mrs. Elliott made reference to a trip through the Hills of Vermont which was the inspiration for a title for her talk — "Come climb the mountains with me."

Some impediments of mountain climbing are laziness and selfishness — sins common to many of us and in control only by individuals involved. The mountain "peace of mind" — this we must climb alone — learn to be content with what we have. Obstacles of mountain climbing tend to broaden our personality and to develop our character.

Mrs. Roy Bush expressed appreciation on behalf of all present to Mrs. Elliott for this educational and most interesting address.

A medley of instrumental numbers was given by Mrs. Philip Conley.

Mrs. George Heasman voiced thanks to the hostess for the use of her home, to Mrs. Carr for the most interesting programme and to the lunch committee. Lunch was served and a social half hour enjoyed.

Davy Crockett

A mother, who ordinarily has a lot of trouble keeping up with her children's interests, reports that she has now made a very big mistake about Davy Crockett. Although she has heard the song about the king of the wild frontier some thousand times, apparently she hadn't listened hard enough, for she had one part of it badly twisted — to the delighted scorn of her offspring.

She says they rolled on the floor laughing at her when she inquired how Davy Crockett could have made such a grand reputation in so short a time, having been "killed in a bar when he was only three." —The Printed Word.

Fruits of Travel

Tourists, says one who has recently returned from touring, seem to divide into a few main types. One type is represented by the middle-aged spinster, frequently a retired school teacher, always accompanied by a companion of the same sex and type.

Honeymooning and young married couples are rare, at least during the winter months, economic reasons probably forbidding distant travel. One sees a fair number of middle-aged or elderly couples. Frequently these couples expand to threesomes through the addition of the wife's sister. In that case the sisters look as if they had stepped from a drawing by the late Helen Hokinson, and their smaller escort usually has a harried look.

The commonest tourist type is the wandering widow. One can imagine that she has always had the belief that travel broadens one, though she has not done badly in that respect at home, but she was never able to stir her husband out of his rut. Now, with children married, husband tucked away and the insurance money safely banked, she is having the belated time of her life. This year she may be in Mexico, next year viewing the Alhambra or the Taj Mahal. While the insurance money lasts she is out to get the benefit of it and who can say she isn't wiser than her husband, who paid the premiums and had no fun in return? —The Printed Word.

Men, materials... and money

When a business lands an order or a contract, it is likely to go to a chartered bank to arrange some of the financing. It may need bank credit to meet payrolls, to buy materials or to cover other costs that arise before it is paid.

That's why businesses both large and small can take on many jobs they would be unable to handle if they had to depend entirely on their own financial resources... And why, every day and in every part of Canada, the chartered banks are lending money to producers, manufacturers, processors and other commercial customers.

Commercial loans are only one of many banking services available at a branch of a chartered bank. You will find it is a convenient banking service-centre where you can attend to all your banking needs.

THE CHARTERED BANKS SERVING YOUR COMMUNITY

Only a chartered bank offers a full range of banking services, including:

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Weed of the Week

USE OF GRADED SEED PROTECTION FROM DODDER

Dodder is one of the weeds classified as "prohibited noxious" under the Canada Seeds Act and where even one Dodder seed per ounce is found in clovers or grasses they must be withdrawn from sale.

According to the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture there are several varieties of Dodder; clover Dodder being the most common type in Ontario. The weed is a parasite, having no roots of its own, but living off other plants which it strangles as it twines around them. It consists of a thin yellowish golden vine which has no leaves, but has clusters of white flowers that later turn an orange color. The seeds are small, dark brown and very hard and may remain in the soil for as long as ten years before germinating. Dodder needs no roots as it leaves the soil as soon as it finds a host plant to sustain it. Clovers, Flax, Buckwheat and most weeds are perfect host plants and enable it to spread extensively. One plant may cover more than one square yard in a season and produce millions of seeds. The ideal means of control is to prevent the plant from producing seed. This however, is difficult. A good summer fallow is recommended as it leaves no host plants to support Dodder which will not attach itself to grasses or grains but finds clovers and weeds in these crops to live on and insure its spread.

Since all countries are not as concerned with eliminating Dodder as we are in Canada, imported seed may have to be cleaned to be certified free from it. The use of officially graded seed is a must if it is to be eradicated. When Dodder is found in a growing crop it must be destroyed and, if the seed has set, the crop should be destroyed in order to keep the weed from spreading over the field. This may seem a drastic measure but it is a necessary one when dealing with Dodder.

PASTURE MANAGEMENT PAYS DIVIDENDS

In these summer days when most pastures are lush with growth, the thought often occurs to many farmers, just what can be done, if anything, to keep or maintain an abundance of luxuriant feed in the weeks and months to follow. In this regard, the management of pastures can be very helpful reports the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. While seeding the proper mixtures of grasses and clovers on a well prepared seed bed is of prime importance, management is the next step towards profitable returns per acre. In this way, farmers can "cash in" further by following a few management practices such as rotating, clipping off excess growth, harrowing to spread droppings, and providing the proper supplies of plant food for abundant growth. By these methods it has been proven that farmers who are pasture conscious can obtain increased production of meat or milk; also can maintain pasture in top yielding form for many, many years, thereby such pasture can truly be regarded as "improved," "long term" or "permanent."

The use of an electric fence proves an easy means of dividing pastures into smaller lots. This is an excellent aid in maintaining a continuous supply of short, young grass. To maintain a maximum of leaf growth rich in protein, and a minimum of stem growth low in digestible nutrients, clipping pastures with the mower bar set high to remove excess coarse growth is a good practice. This also encourages root growth and more even stand of plants of various species, as it also controls weeds by destroying seeds before they mature. Weeds, of course, use plant food that should be going towards productive pasture; hence spraying of pastures for weeds has recently become quite a common farm practice.

Managed pasture demonstration projects are located in every County and district under the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association. For further particulars, contact the directors of your organization in your area, enquire from your Agricultural Representative or contact the Field Crops Branch.

GRASS SILAGE VS. CORN SILAGE

Is grass silage a good feed for beef cattle? This is a common question asked among beef cattle men. If the answer to this query is "Yes," how does grass silage compare with the old reliable succulent roughage, corn silage?

Considerable work has been done at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, says W. A. Jordan of the Animal Husbandry Division, testing the value of grass silage in the ration of beef cattle. To date, it appears that this feed will play an important role in the beef cattle industry.

Two years' results of an experiment with beef calves being wintered, show that grass silage compared very favourably with corn silage, when each was fed along with a small amount of hay and grain. There was no significant difference in the gain made by the calves on either ration or in the cost of the rations. Calves on each ration showed equally good bloom and development.

From these results it appears that good grass silage is about equal to corn silage when fed with hay and grain to beef calves during the winter. If properly harvested and ensiled, either roughage is palatable and will give good results.

Brown Stews

- 3 pounds/trimmed stewing meat, bone in (beef, veal or lamb)
- Or 2 pounds trimmed stewing meat, boneless
- 5 to 6 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 to 1/2 teaspoon savory (beef stew)
- 1 to 1/2 teaspoon thyme (lamb or veal stew)
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 3 1/2 to 4 cups liquid (water, tomato juice or canned sieved tomatoes)
- 6 medium onions (whole)
- 12 medium carrots (cut in half lengthwise)
- 6 medium potatoes (cut in halves)
- 2 cups turnips (cubed)
- 2 cups green beans (1 20-oz. can) (optional)
- 2 cups peas (1 20-oz. can) (optional)

Wipe meat and cut in serving-size pieces. Brown well on all sides in fat cut from the meat. Drain off excess fat in lamb stew. Coat browned meat with flour and continue to brown. Add seasonings and liquid. Cover closely, simmer on top of stove.

Beef Stew — Bone in or boneless, 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

Veal or Lamb Stew — Bone in, 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

Boneless — 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours. Allow 15 minutes longer for stew cooked in 325 degs. F. oven.

Add vegetables 1 hour before end of cooking time. Add canned vegetables 10 minutes before end of cooking time. Six servings (5 to 6 oz. meat bone in 4 oz. meat boneless).

Variations

Light Stew

Omit flouring and browning, thickening about 15 minutes before end of cooking time. Use 5 to 6 tablespoons flour, mix with enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Add a little cooking liquid from the stew to the paste, blend well and stir gradually into the stew.

Scotch Stew

To lamb stew add 1/2 cup barley at beginning of cooking time and use only 2 to 3 tablespoons flour for coating meat. Add 1 cup chopped celery.

Pressure Cooked Stews

Use only 4 to 5 tablespoons flour for coating meat. Reduce liquid to 1 1/2 or 2 cups. Add seasonings. Cook meat 8 to 10 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Remove cooker from heat and cool slowly. Add prepared vegetables and cook 4 minutes longer at 15 pounds pressure. Cool slowly.

Drivers Again

The Kitchener-Waterloo Record, published in a community where safe road conduct is widely taught and highly regarded, has a look at drivers when it says:

"No two drivers have precisely similar abilities under all conditions. But a sad part is that most drivers think they're as good as the best in all respects."

A wise motorist is one who recognizes his own limitations and drives accordingly.

Untold Tragedy of Ontario's Forest Fires

The untold tragedy of Ontario's forest fires is the damage to watersheds and wildlife, Col. C. E. Reynolds, Chairman of the Ontario Northland Railway, warned in a public message to the Canadian Forestry Association.

"The gutting of timber areas, such as the Chapleau Fire last month, is an injury impossible to exaggerate," Col. Reynolds said, "and it is supplemented by other forms of fire damage that will not be corrected in a lifetime. Lakes and rivers depend upon wooded watersheds for their maintenance. The regularity of stream-flow is a natural function of the forest which acts as a storage reservoir. When a forest burns, run-off is rapidly accelerated and alternating conditions of flood and drought are brought into play."

"Northern Ontario needs full conservation of all resources and should allow no place to conflagrations that upset the balance of nature. In view of present-day developments in forest industries, forest fires have become too costly to tolerate and doubly so since four-fifths of these disasters are due to human negligence. It seems to me entirely reasonable that a determined public opinion, vigorously supporting the Ontario Forest Service, could soon reduce the fire problem to a fraction of its present dimensions."

Pine Grove Women's Institute

The June meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. John Brown with an attendance of 12 members and one visitor. Mrs. Grace Bartindale, President, presided and opened the meeting with the Opening Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect in unison.

The Roll Call was "Name a Cabinet Minister and his portfolio." Current events were given by Mrs. Harold Dettler. The report of the District Annual was given by Mrs. Farley Lindenfield.

Mrs. W. Slater, Citizenship Convener, presided over the programme. Mrs. Harry Coulter read a short paper on "Citizenship." Citizenship is actually being a member of Canada. This membership is either inherited by birth or is acquired by seeking and being received as a Canadian. It grants many privileges, freedom of religion, of speech and free government. "What is a Canadian?" was read by Mrs. Alex Tanner. "A Creed for Canadians," was read by Mrs. W. Slater.

Mrs. G. Bartindale gave her report on "Family Living," which she had attended during the winter. Security is very necessary to a child's well-being, and if they don't have it, they are frightened, shy and very aggressive as their personalities develop. Stealing seems natural for some children who have never had what they wanted at home and don't realize it is stealing. We should find out why he acted so and fill the need or lack. People are never hopeless. There is always something we can do to help, but they must feel the need for a change and speak of it, before we can do much.

If parents have a common standard and try to live up to it, children will do the same. During the group age there is the gang and everything is gauged by the gang approval. If the gang is a Boy Scout or Girl Guide group or belongs to some church group their leisure time is taken up and no time for badness. For youth and adolescence do not set standards too high. It is easier to raise the sights, if the youth has been conquered.

Children change and will have several heroes in the course of time. No one hero lasts long. It used to be a child was influenced by church and school, but now we have radio, television and reading. It is a good idea to talk over our troubles and they aren't so bad if shared. We should point out to children that there are all kinds of people in the world but we don't have to act as the bad ones do.

A good home is one that everyone in the home has helped build, and will feel it is their and the same applies to the community. All will be proud of home and community and hesitate to do anything to lower the standards.

Each one should feel responsible for consequences of his actions. If we all felt his responsibility we would have a better world.

After the singing of the National Anthem and the Institute Grace, refreshments were served by the hostesses and the lunch committee.

Checkpoint... "ACCURACY"

The watt-hour meter that measures the electricity you use is made with the same precision as a fine watch. Sealed to withstand dust and moisture, its sapphire-jewelled bearings never need oil. It is designed to operate efficiently and accurately at all temperatures and is periodically checked by Dominion Government Inspectors.

Electricity is metered in kilowatt-hours (1,000 watts used for one hour). The small dial, at the bottom of the meter illustrated measures 1/10th of a kilowatt-hour. On completion of one revolution, the dial at the right moves one unit to show one kilowatt-hour. Similarly, the three other dials indicate, from right to left, units of ten, one hundred and one thousand kilowatt-hours—your meter, at all times maintains an accurate record of the small amount of low-cost electricity required to provide a better way of living.

Easiest, Cheapest way to WEED CORN HERBATE 2,4-D

Saves work... Cuts costs

For only 35 cents' worth of HERBATE 2,4-D you can clear out the weeds in an acre of corn. HERBATE 2,4-D saves you time and money... helps you get bigger and more profitable yields.

HERBATE 2,4-D, applied at recommended stage of growth, kills most broad-leaved weeds with no risk of crop damage. It kills sensitive weeds outright and controls more resistant ones.

C-1-L MCP Sodium is especially recommended for weed-kill in peas and other sensitive crops, including corn and also grain crops seeded to legumes (except sweet clover).

HERBATE Amine 80 works more slowly than Esters... is safer near 2,4-D susceptible crops. Especially suited to weed control in cereal nurse crops.

HERBATE Ester 64 is highly effective for control of 2,4-D susceptible species of brush as well as weeds.

Truck Talk

Most private drivers have observed truck drivers blink their headlights or clearance lights on the highways either day or night and have probably wondered about the intended message.

At night, when you dip your lights to let a truck driver know you wish to pass, if he blinks his clearance lights once or twice you can read "all clear." However, should they blink rapidly several times, don't attempt to pass — there is danger in the road.

Another warning of danger ahead of you is when at night the driver of an oncoming vehicle turns his driving lights off momentarily. During daylight they would be turned on for a fairly long period for a similar warning.

Either night or day, lights turned on and off twice is a greeting. But on and off three times means "Stop, Emergency."

Truckers livelihoods depend on safe passage from origin to destination and their apparent courtesies are common sense safety measures. They emphasize the importance of (1) dimming headlights at night, not only when meeting another vehicle, but also when following a vehicle on the road; and (2) being especially careful to signal all turns and stops clearly and correctly as required by the Highway Traffic Act.
